Berlinn picked to fill school board vacancy

Trustee to finish Mrs. Lombari's term

The Romulus School Board, moving to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Shirley Lombardi, appointed Kenneth E. Berlinn, an 11-year resident of Romulus and past president of the Merriman Elementary P.T.A. to occupy the seat. Berlinn will serve until next June's annual school election.

The school board followed a process of soliciting applications, accepting resumes and then interviewing candidates on Tues., Sept. 8. The final four candidates for the position interviewed represented a cross section of the geography of Romulus.

Roger Cadaret, Chairman of the "Our Community Counts" Committee and an active participant in recent school millage campaigns was considered along with Andrew Orgovan, active citizen from the Hayti Elementary attendance area.

Rounding out the field was Richard Zavodsky, who had been a board candidate two years ago.

Cadaret is an attorney and an employee for General Motors; Orgovan is a retired engineer for Chrysler, and Zavodsky is an administrator with Ford Motor Company.

After reviewing the resumes and conducting the interviews, the board selected Berlinn, who has three daughters who attend elementary, junior high and high school in the district.

Berlinn has worked at the Ford, Woodhaven Stamping Plant for the past 16 years, and came to Romulus 11 years ago from New Boston. He has been active in school affairs and scouting. He lives at 15518 Oakbrook with his wife Rosalie and daughters Denise, Marian, and Laurie.

'Very special' church service

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will hold a "very special service" at 10 a.m. Sun., Sept. 27. On that date and time, St. Paul's congregation, church and bank officials "will hold a special service during which the mortgage on the parish building will be burned."

The parish building was built in 1966 and the mortgage was retired this summer.

Rev. Walter Gienapp, former pastor at St. Paul's, will deliver the sermon. He's chosen "Debt Free - but Still in Debt" as the theme for his sermon.

Following the service there will be a "pot luck" dinner in the parish building.

'Christmas ballet' needs dancers

The Ypsilanti Area Dancers are auditioning for a "Christmas Ballet" and are looking for talented dancers.

The audition will be held at 2:30 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 26 at the Randazzo Dance Studio, 722 Lowell Street, Ypsilanti.

"We're looking for any dancer who has taken or is taking two ballet dance lessons a week and in the age, group of 10-years-old to adults," said Mrs. Frances Griffin. Mrs. Griffin said that the "dancers should come ready to dance."

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Griffin at 483-0199.

Fire claims paraplegic's 'wheels'

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

John Golembiewski turns 31 this week, but his mind won't dwell on presents, candles, cake and ice cream.

A victim of Cerebral Palsy, he can only think about his lost electric wheelchair. And that depresses him.

Several years ago public contributions provided Golembiewski with an electric wheelchair, which allowed the quadriplegic to move around his home—Wayne's Venoy Continued Care Center—without assistance. He became an outgoing guy, one who delivered the mail everyday to the center's other residents.

Then, last April a freak accident deprived him of his wheelchair, his only source of independence. Reading outdoors with the aid of a magnifying glass, the sun's rays set his pants on fire, causing first-, second- and third-degree burns over 13 percent of his body.

Golembiewski recovered, although he still receives treatments for the burns. His prized electric wheelchair didn't, having been completely destroyed in the mishap.

"John is in a regular wheelchair now," said Toni Walter, the Venoy Center's activities director, "but he doesn't have the strength or coordination to maneuver or push himself around. He was used to being able to get around by himself and now he stays in one place unless someone is around to help him."

The 5-foot-7, 90-pound young man suddenly finds himself in a battle to maintain his independence. He no longer can deliver the mail or change channels on his television or put a record on a stereo or visit his friends in the center when he wants. John Golembiewski, institutionalized with the incurable Cerebral Palsy since the age of nine, is losing that battle for self esteem.

"He competed on the obstacle course at the Cerebral Palsy Games last year and won a medal," Mrs. Walter said. "But because of his accident he missed the event this year. He still bowls once a week and participates in therapeutic recreation, but he doesn't seem to be interested in things anymore."

"John always was a very popular guy—he has many, many friends. He's dependent on the staff for everything now and confused. He doesn't understand why the insurance won't replace his wheelchair."

Mrs. Walter explained that his Medicaid policy is not responsible for replacing the chair, which will take some $2,500 to purchase. Cutbacks in Easter Seals Society programs have closed that possible avenue for funds, she added.

'Grounded'

John Golembiewski in happier times...

"John receives $28 a month in spending money," the activities director explained, "and with that he has to take care of his personal needs."

Hardly enough cash to buy an electric powered wheelchair. However, an account has been established in his name to raise funds for this purpose. To date the account holds $20. Anyone wishing to contribute towards John's electric wheelchair can do so by sending a check or money order made out to John Golembiewski, care of the Venoy Continued Care Center, 3999 Venoy, Wayne, Michigan 48184. Correspondence should be marked to the attention of Toni Walter.

"John can make his needs known, but he's very difficult to understand," said Mrs. Walter. "Cerebral Palsy victims do not improve, although they don't necessarily get worse either."

It's not difficult to understand his need for an electric wheelchair, though. The need is reflected in his brown eyes everyday.

His battle for independence continues.

Romulus school district to try to bond its debts

Using a little known section of the Michigan School Code in an effort to avoid severe financial problems, the Romulus Community Schools' Board of Education, Monday evening voted to place on the ballot of the Nov. 3 city election, a proposal to sell bonds to eliminate the school districts $3,000,000 general operating fund deficit.

Supt. William Bedell said that "a number of years ago the state passed a law to enable the Detroit Public Schools to bond their general fund debt."

"The law is still on the books and Senator William Faust has agreed to introduce legislation to update it to make it useable for Romulus. What it does, in effect, is to allow us to sell bonds as if we were building a building to eliminate the accumulated deficit and smooth out our cash-flow problems. We've talked to people in the financial community and at the state government level and they are supportive of our logic."

"Bedell stressed that Romulus would be able to solve its deficit problem locally without relying on state resources." Bedell went on to develop the logic for the proposal. He explained that Romulus's problems are largely caused by declining enrollment and shrinking state reimbursement. He reasons that if you bond for periods of enrollment growth, there is some logic to selling bonds for a school district to get through the extreme financial pressures of declining enrollment.

"The problem with declining enrollment is you lose state resources much faster than you can cut your overhead, that is, closing of buildings, Bedell said. "This bond issue will permit us to catch up and ease our way through our severe decline," he said.

Bedell further pointed out that the real advantage of the proposal is that no taxes will need to be levied to make payments on the loan until next year and that the estimated 2-mill levy after the initial year will continue to decrease as the school district's property value increases.

"We are hoping the taxpayers and parents will see that this is a relatively painless way for us to get through this

Romulus woman killed in auto mishap

A flat tire apparently cost a 43-year-old Romulus woman her life.

The woman, Sally Lewis, had stopped her car on Pennsylvania Rd., just west of Middlebelt Sunday evening to change a tire when she was struck by a west-bound car.

Ms. Lewis was rushed to Heritage Hospital in Taylor where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

Romulus police said that the accident occurred at approximately 10:30 p.m. The driver of the second vehicle was released, pending an investigation, police added.

Ms. Lewis is the second person to lose her life on Romulus roads this year.

Canton says 'No' to landfill expansion

Planning commission decides to turn down Woodland Meadows' application

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Canton's Planning Commission, following the recommendation of the township planning department, voted 7-0 Monday night to deny Michigan Waste Systems, Inc. permission to build a 105-acre landfill at its Woodland Meadows site, north of Van Born between Hannan and Lotz roads.

The Planning Commission also unanimously denied site plan approval and special land use approval sought by the landfill owners. In recommending denial of the preliminary application for permission to establish a landfill, Assistant Planner Dave Nicholson cited three major deviations from the requirements of Ordinance 61, the Canton Landfill Ordinance.

"The proposed landfill will exceed the maximum height of 10 feet permitted by Section 6.03," Nicholson's report stated.

"Section 5.04 requires by perimeter setbacks of at least 300 feet adjacent to any public road right-of-way. The proposed setbacks are 100 feet."

"There, the developer intends that on-site roads for site refuse shall be constructed over waste filled areas in violation of Section 6.04."

Nicholson continued: "We recommend denial of site plan approval in accordance with the provisions of Section 27.01, Zoning Ordinance which requires site plan compliance with all applicable ordinances of the township. Since the site plan does not comply with Ordinance 61, the Zoning Ordinance does not permit site plan approval."

"Special land use approval should also be denied," Nicholson informed the Planning Commission. "Zoning Ordinance, Section 5.14, B.2, requires that a site plan drawn to the specifications of Article 27.00 must be presented in order for Special Land Use Approval to be considered. Since the site plan is deficient as described above, Special Land Use Approval may not be granted. Additionally, we do not believe the issue of compatibility with existing and planned residential development has been adequately resolved, nor has a need for the facility in that location been clearly established," Nicholson stated.

Representatives of Michigan Waste Systems, Inc. were on hand for the meeting Monday night and submitted a 12-page report which purportedly showed how the landfill application met the requirements of the Canton Landfill Ordinance.

The proposed expansion of the existing landfill caused an outcry from residents of Wayne who live in the Louis Savage Garfield Subdivision on the east side of Hannan Road, the city's western boundary. Also, people in Romulus and Van Buren Township, two communities that also about the landfill site, have registered objections to the building of the landfill.

City of Wayne selected officials have gone on record publicly protesting the proposed landfill expansion and the possible dangers involved. Woodland Meadows representatives acknowledged that "less than five percent" of the materials accepted at the site is toxic waste material. Many people have expressed the concern at public hearings that they are afraid that percentage will increase considerably, if the landfill expands.

Mayor William M. Oakley of Romulus sent a letter to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources that was read into the record Monday night, opposing the proposed expansion of the Woodland Meadows Landfill. He noted in his letter that the northwest area of Romulus would be most heavily impacted and that it is zoned single family homes. He said the "expanded landfill

Stirring up an appetite

With October just a flip of a calendar page away, New Boston's Ed Dulecki (at left) and John Schoedel are stirring up some pancake mix and interest for the annual Huron Applefest. The Applefest festivities will get under way on Oct. 3 and will include such appetizers as the Rotary Club's Pancake Breakfast. The breakfast will be held from 8 a.m. until noon, Oct. 4 at the Miller School, located on Hanna Rd. Dulecki will serve as the Rotary chef, while Schoedel will be preparing the sausage.

Romulus seniors to fete police officers

The Romulus Senior Citizens are planning a party.

And they've invited the entire police department to join in.

"We thought it would be something nice, a sort of 'thank you' to them for all they have done for this city and what they mean to us," said Mrs. Atchison, one of the organizers of the fete.

The party will be held at 4:30 p.m., on Thursday, at the Romulus Towers. And there'll be a pot luck supper awaiting the men in blue.

The seniors also will be honoring residents of the tower who are celebrating birthdays this month.

If your Federal Income Tax Bracket is $25,000 or more . . .

It's possible to earn a higher rate of real return than money market funds — with Wayne Bank's new "All Savers Certificates"*

Current All-Savers Tax-Free Interest Rate Annual %	Comparable Yields Needed to Equal All-Savers Rates
12.61*	16.17	18.82	20.67	22.52
Taxable Income Joint Return	$20,000	$30,000	$40,000	$50,000

* Rate payable Oct. 1, 2, & 3
Figures quoted per 1982 Federal Tax Regulations.

Plus, your investment is insured against loss up to $100,000 per depositor!

Effective October 1, recent government regulations will permit Wayne Bank to issue tax-free, one-year Certificates of Deposit. These new All Savers Certificates can provide an amazingly high real rate of return as shown in the above chart. By real rate, we mean the actual cash you earn after paying income taxes.

Under the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, all interest paid on All Savers Certificates is tax-exempt on amounts up to $1,000 for single persons or $2,000 if filing jointly. In certain tax brackets the real rate of return (after taxes) exceeds that offered by money market funds or any other similar investment vehicle.

Earn Very High Effective Interest

Interest on Wayne Bank's All Savers 52-Week Certificates of Deposit will be determined by law, based upon 70% of the average investment yield of one-year

Treasury Bills at the most recent monthly auction. For instance, beginning October 1 through 3, the Bank will pay 12.61 annual percent. And once your account is opened, this rate will be paid throughout the CD's maturity of 52 weeks. Keep in mind your eligible tax exemption (both Federal and State) . . . in order to determine your real rate of return. It should surprise and delight you!

Low Minimum Deposit & Conversion Allowed

Just a MINIMUM DEPOSIT OF $500 is required to open an All Savers Account and become eligible for the tax exemption. Also, for those individuals holding 6-Month Money Market Certificates of Deposit that will mature on or after October 1, 1981, it may be in your best interest to convert these to All Saver Certificates to obtain the best possible real yield.

We recommend that you deposit the maximum that you can in order to qualify for your full interest tax exemption. As the regulations stand now, there is a life-time tax exclusion of $1,000 for singles and $2,000 if filing jointly.

Help Home Buying & Home Improvement Markets

You will not only do yourself a favor, by collecting the highest real rate of interest available, but you will also help others. Seventy-five percent of the dollars deposited in our All Savers Certificates are targeted, by Federal Law, to be reinvested into residential or agricultural-type loans. This includes mortgages for home building or buying and home improvement.

Act Now for Maximum Benefit.

To take full advantage of this unusual tax situation, the Bank recommends that arrangements be made now, to activate your account automatically on October 1. Simply stop by or phone any of our offices.

*Federal law and regulation prohibit the payment of this time deposit prior to maturity unless three months of interest is forfeited. Plus, the special tax-exemption on any interest paid, will also be lost.

Board rejects bid to restore bussing

The money crunch continues to plague the Huron School District.

The school board Monday night decided 5-2 that it could not afford to provide bus service for students residing closer than 1½ miles from school.

Over 100 concerned citizens turned out for Monday night's board meeting to discuss the controversial busing issue.

Residents pointed out the potential dangers of students walking along busy roads, and near fields where molest could lurk.

Board members countered by saying it "was simply a matter of money and it could not afford the expenditure any longer."

The state of Michigan reimburses the school district for students who ride buses that live further than 1½ miles

Courts say road patrols must end

Following a decision last week by Circuit Court Judge Harvey W. Moes upholding authority of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to abolish the disputed Sheriff's Road Patrol, Sheriff William Lucas will come again before the Board on Oct. 1 to resume consideration of a proposal to dismiss him from office.

Lucas's refusal to abide Board orders to dismantle the road patrol has kept the issue in court since February, costing an estimated unauthorized $3.3 million.

During a July hearing on removing him from office, the Board postponed further action until a final decision from the court.

Even while the commissioners ordered Lucas to return before them, however, they authorized nearly $2 million more for the Sheriff's jail payroll throughout the fiscal year ending Nov. 30. The actions were simultaneous on Sept. 17.

Although the Commissioners authorized the additional $1,905,200 only for straight time pay and only at the county jail, the approval nevertheless adds to speculation that the Board lacks enough votes to fire Lucas.

would encompass 202 acres and have a substantial negative impact on our community."

Mayor Oakley said Romulus is affected greatly by airplanes from Detroit Metropolitan Airport and from numerous truck terminal traffic. He pointed out that the far northwestern corner of Romulus was prime residential property, but would be rendered "undesirable," if the landfill expanded. He closed by stating his concern about the landfill expansion's "impact on the health and safety of our residents.

away, and deducts a penalty for those who live closer and ride the busses.

In the past the cost was absorbed by the school district. This year, however, so many other cuts have been made, the Board felt that it could no longer afford to bus the children.

The total cost of the program is estimated at $45,000, according to Board trustee Larry O'Kelley.

Saying that the Board can cut costs elsewhere, trustee George Angel offered a motion to pick up the cost to reinstate the bus service "as it was before with the schools absorbing the costs."

The motion died 5-2 as Angel received support only from trustee John Watson. Voting against the motion were Bill Manny, Gary Tobin, O'Kelley, Jim Pershin and Edwrd Umin.

UF kicks off campaign

The United Foundation, whose monies serve more than 135 Torch Drive agencies, will kick off its 1981 campaign locally on Friday, according to Joyce Palmer, Torch Drive Community chairperson for Small Business.

"We are looking forward to a successful drive again this year," said Mrs. Palmer who is also president of the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce and owner of Real Estate, Inc. "And we are looking forward to the full support of our community to promote this worthy project."

Mrs. Palmer is joined by Mayor William Oakley, who is a co-chairman of the drive, along with team chairpersons Karan Cantrell, and Mary Fronczak, in inviting residents and business people "to make this year's drive the most successful in the UF's history."

The United Foundation pledges help to 135 Torch Drive supported charitable organizations which are providing important and vital local services.

"The Torch Drive is a low-cost and convenient way to invest in the lives of your or your friends and family," Mrs. Palmer noted, "Through your contributions we are able to reach out and touch the lives of many. And it's a good feeling to make our community a better place for all."

Schools to attempt to bond debts crisis situation created by the State's economic problems without massive local tax increase, Bedell said.

Bedell further pointed out that the real advantage of the proposal is that no taxes will need to be levied to make payments on the loan until next year and that the estimated 2-mill levy after the initial year will continue to decrease as the school district's property value increases.

"We are hoping the taxpayers and parents will see that this is a relatively painless way for us to get through this crisis situation created by the state's economic problems without massive local tax increase," Bedell said.

Board of Education President Michael Woods indicated that the community, staff and students would all have to get behind the proposal in an effort to keep some reasonable semblance of school program.

"This is the least expensive way for us to solve this problem. Unfortunately, we will not be able to do program restoration, but we will be able to operate what we have now. Hopefully, next spring, we will be able to talk to taxpayers about some choices they may want to make in terms of increasing program offerings," Woods offered.

Recently elected Board Trustee, Dan Bales, also supported the concept. "This is a way for us to solve our cash-flow problems locally at a cost of about 50¢ per taxpayer," said Bales. "I think we can sell that if we all work hard at it by going door-to-door and explaining the issue to people in language they will understand."

The Board scheduled a meeting for Thursday, Sept. 17 to begin planning a campaign to get information to voters and parents concerning the proposition.

Roger Cadaret, Chairman of a citizen's organization named, "Our Community Counts Committee" also appeared before the Board to pledge support for selling the issue. Cadaret and his group will meet with the Board on Thursday evening to help plan election strategy.

Bedell indicated that the purpose of this session was for the board to find ways to make sure parents and taxpayers understand the basic issues.

"There will be no cost to the bonds until next year and then the millage required to meet the obligations will decrease as new factories are built and local property values increase," Bedell said. "The issue will probably be floated for about eight years and by the end of that time our millage levy requirement for the loan should be considerably reduced."

The United way

United Foundation will kick off its 1981 Torch Drive campaign locally on Friday with four prominent members of the community spearheading that drive. They are (from left) Mary Fronczak, Mayor William Oakley, Joyce Palmer and Karen Cantrell. Torch Drive raised monies support and help 135 agencies that serve residents in the tri-county area.

quality gives you the efficiency, dependability and comfort you want.

When you need a new furnace, you want the best: An Amana Air Command gas furnace. It gives you:

- Famous Amana quality in engineering and construction;
- Lasting dependability and peace of mind;
- Automatic operation;
- Energy-saving intermittent pilot ignition on many models;
- Budget-pleasing operating efficiency;
- Enjoyable comfort.

1 Strong, efficient heat exchanger

Transfers heat from burning fuel to safe, usable heat for your home. Amana uses diagonally opposed cross ribs, internal baffles, heavy steel construction and continuous seam welding to produce maximum efficiency and long heat exchanger life.

2 Thrifty gas burners

Mix air and gas thoroughly for efficient, complete fuel consumption. Crossover igniter gives positive, quiet ignition. Amana design prevents dust or lint from clogging burner ports. Equally efficient with natural or propane gas.

3 Quiet, safe gas valve

Fully automatic, quiet opening Amana Servo-regulator valve gives proper gas pressure to the burners at all times, even when line pressure is below normal. Thermocouple control closes valve should pilot light go out. Fan/limit control shuts valve off in case furnace overheats.

4 Large, effective air filter

Traps much of the dirt, dust and lint in the air passing through it. Keeps air fresh and clean. Easy to replace or clean. Standard sizes make them easy to buy.

5 Quiet Turbo-bladed blower

Moves large air volume quietly. Large size keeps air velocity in the "quiet range." Felt cushions prevent metal-to-metal contact between furnace cabinet and blower; isolate vibration and noise. The finely balanced motor is rubber cushioned to reduce operating sound.

6 Strong, Durable Cabinet

Built to last. Solid construction and "picture-frame" design give quiet operation. Interior insulation adds to efficiency.

7 Amana Electro-coating finish

Protects against rust and corrosion. Keeps the furnace looking great and adds to its life. Six-stage metal cleaning process assures a perfect bonding surface for the paint.

8 Fully tested at the factory

Every Amana gas furnace is test fired and operated at the factory to assure you of worry-free heating. Tests are performed during assembly to make sure Amana's quality standards are met.

Flue Restrictors Hold Heat In

Diagonally Opposed Cross-ribs Spread Heat Evenly

Full Length Burners

Designed for efficient heating. Full length burners provide even heating from the entire heat exchanger. Flue restrictors and diagonally opposed cross-ribs force hot gases to wind their way through the heat exchanger instead of escaping straight up the chimney. Built-in expansion loop reduces noisy and damaging metal strain.

Strange harvest

Weeds can get pretty high in some grass, and when the grass gets to become 6 to 12 feet tall, it can draw a lot of attention as the grass, better known as marijuana, did at one of the homes in Romulus. Romulus police, working with the Metro Squad, raided the home of a local resident and confiscated a rifle, and a crop of marijuana grown illegally. Standing in front of the "strange harvest" are Romulus police officers John Verob (from left), Don Foster and David Malhalab. Police said that the case was turned over to the Metro Squad, which handles illegal drugs and marijuana cases, for prosecution.

FNS begins aid program for mentally retarded

Family & Neighborhood Services (FNS) for Wayne County recently announced a new project for western Wayne County to assist in the treatment and management of high risk citizens.

William D. Finn, Executive Director, described the program as an alternative to institutional placement for mentally retarded citizens.

FNS began the federally funded Family Support Project as a demonstration program to provide outreach and treatment to high risk developmentally disabled clients and their families.

"The focus of this program," explained Finn, "is to enable the client to utilize his or her maximum potential while advocating for the client's right to live and participate in his or her community." He defined high risk clients as those mentally retarded individuals who face the possibility of being institutionalized or re-institutionalized and are not eligible for any other public support programs.

A unique feature of the program, according to Finn, is the Family Support Project's interdisciplinary staff which is available to work with clients and their families in the home or community. Staff members are able to provide scheduled home and/or office visits at times convenient to meet the needs of the clients and their families.

Services offered include diagnosis and evaluation, psychiatric consultation, individual and family therapy, behavioral management training, skills training, crisis intervention, advocacy and referral, and guardianship assistance.

The project is part of the FNS Resource Development Center, 19101 Inkster Road, Romulus. The Center is an outreach and treatment program funded by the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board for residents of western Wayne County.

For further information concerning the program, contact FNS Resource Development Center, Family Support Project by phoning 782-4011.

While in Los Vegas she stayed at the Aladdin Hotel and Renee said she was very impressed by the "dazzle, the celebrities and the atmosphere."

However, she readily admits she was disappointed at the outcome of the fight. (Most of the people in the state also were unhappy by the results, Renee).

Renee is an eighth grade student at St. Anthony's School in Belleville. She studies ballet and jazz and has been a cheerleader for the school's varsity basketball team. She also is a member of the Polish Dance Troop, Kalisz, and traveled to Poland with the group two years ago.

Firemen celebrate 'silver anniversary'

It's "Silver Anniversary" time for the Romulus fire fighters.

The local fire department will hold its 25th annual "Fireman's Ball" beginning at 7 p.m. until 1 p.m., Sat., Oct. 17 at the Romulus Progressive Hall, Ozga Rd.

Donations are $25 per couple and monies raised will help go to the department for various projects.

Tickets may be obtained from the Fire

Chief's secretary, Bonnie Simco, at Station No. 4, on Eureka Rd. Also, further information about the "Silver Anniversary" may be obtained by telephoning 941-0666. Ask for the Fire Chief's Office.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

ELECTRIC TOOTHBRUSHES

Electric toothbrushes are the 20th century's answer to "toothbrusher's elbow." But you can do just as well manually. Their main advantage is that all you have to do is apply the brush to your teeth and the brush does all the work.

Another advantage of the electric toothbrush is its novelty value. It is a mechanical device and children are more likely to develop regular brushing habits because of their fascination with a brush that "does the work." If an electric toothbrush encourages the habit of brushing teeth on a regular schedule, it is well worth the investment.

The electric toothbrush is definitely a boon to handicapped persons who cannot brush their teeth easily with a regular hand brush.

The late president, Lyndon Johnson, was sold on electric toothbrushes. He used to present them (engraved with the presidential seal) as gifts. "I give these toothbrushes to friends," LBJ told his biographer, Doris Kearns, "then I know they will think of me every morning, and every night."

YMCA needs volunteers

The YWCA of Western Wayne County has two programs in need of volunteers who are interested in donating just a few hours each week.

Anyone with a guidance and counseling, social work or teaching background may want work in the program for female inmates at the Wayne County Detention Annex in Westland.

Women who can teach knitting, crocheting or sewing are needed as well as individuals who could do some private tutoring in English or math. The program also needs women who are willing to spend some time talking with the inmates or do some individual or group counseling.

The Westland Women's Employment Center is looking for volunteers who will be willing to contact employers, talk to clients or do some office work such as filing, typing and mailing. Volunteers who have some empathy training and peer counseling could find a rewarding experience in working in the Employment Center.

For further information call Leslie Frederick about the Annex Program or Veardean Watson at the Employment Center at 561-4110.

Vacation costs up 10 percent

The average cost of vacationing by car this summer compared with 1980 rose 10 percent to $138 per day for a family of four, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"That figure includes meals, motels, gas and oil for two adults and two children traveling 300 miles per day," stated Auto Club Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

Drury said that daily lodging costs averaged $54 versus $50 a year ago, while meals totaled $60 versus $54 in 1980, excluding tips, snacks and cocktails.

Gasoline and oil cost $8 for every 100 miles with the automobile averaging 20 miles per gallon, up $1. The daily total does not include items such as souvenirs, park or attraction admissions, road tolls or parking fees.

Drury pointed out that costs in major resort and large metropolitan areas could be up to 75 percent higher, while smaller towns and rural areas could run 25 percent less than the average.

The cost of vacationing is based on the AAA pamphlet titled "Your Driving Costs."

Longtime Romulus Board of Education trustee

Morris is elected MASB president

A former member of the Romulus Board of Education and a long-time education leader in Wayne County, Carl W. Morris, of Romulus, was elected President of the Michigan Association of School Boards on Friday, Sept. 11.

Morris, a native of Romulus, is a successful businessman and a longtime civic and school leader in western Wayne County. He served continuously as a member of the Romulus Community Schools Board of Education for 30 years and has been a member of the Wayne County Intermediate School District for 24 years.

"I believe one of the major challenges facing us today is finding an equitable way to finance our schools," Morris said. "Taxpayers are overburden, and we must find a way to give them relief and, at the same time, come up with a stable way to finance our schools."

Morris, a member of the Board of Education of the Wayne County Intermediate School District for 23 years and currently secretary of the board, also served 30 years as a member of the Romulus Board of Education.

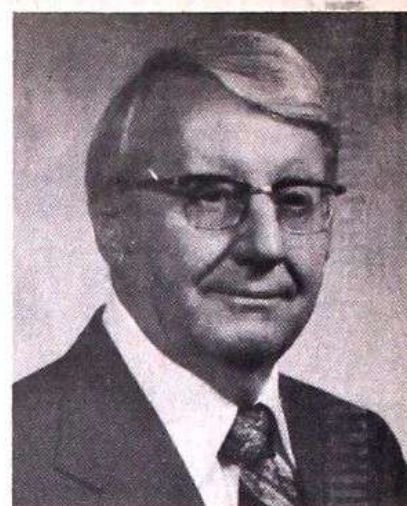

He is frequently called to Washington and Lansing to testify on education programs of state and national importance, particularly on energy and school finance.

Morris is also a member of the Wayne County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council and one of two representatives from Romulus on the Peoples' Community Hospital Authority. He has served Romulus as a member of the Bicentennial Commission, the Planning Commission, the Board of Appeals, and the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The founder, co-owner, and currently board chairman of the Huron Valley Oil Company, a distributor of gas and fuel oil which has been serving the Wayne County area for 35 years, Morris and his wife, Beulah presently live in Romulus, and they are the fourth generation of his family that have lived in the area since 1847.

The Morris family has four sons: Thomas, Donald, Larry and James.

At the starting line

Ready and willing to take part — but we doubt their bodies are — in the annual New Boston Huron Applefest mini-marathon are Russ Wilson (from left), president of the Rotary Club, George Adams, charter member and senior Rotarian — who are at the starting line. A reluctant but smiling Dr. Raymond Nickol and Gary Bates view the runners with skepticism. The false start was staged all in fun to draw attention to the marathon run which is sponsored by the Huron Rotarians. Those wishing to challenge the course may get more information by telephoning Dr. Nickol at 753-4825 or 753-4446. There is a $6 entry fee and runners may compete in either a 10,000 meter, 5,000 meter or 1 mile event.

County Commissioners study 'hard liquor' sales on Sunday

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has tentatively provided for means leading possibly to package liquor sales in the county.

Last week the Board instructed its Office of Corporation Counsel to draft an ordinance allowing the Sunday retail sales of hard liquor, such as is already permitted for beer and wine.

The decision was unanimous except for a single dissenting vote from George F. Killeen, who is recognized throughout the country as an activist in anti alcohol-abuse programs.

The draft ordinance could be approved this month and thereafter quickly approved by Governor Milliken. Legislation effective in January allows the Sunday sales throughout the state if the various county boards of commissioners concur. Oakland, Macomb and Monroe counties have already adopted such ordinances and package liquor is available there on Sundays.

The economics and business competition were forcefully argued by Commissioners William J. Runco, from Dearborn; Mary E. Dumas, Livonia; Kay Beard, Inkster; and Arthur M. Carter, Detroit.

Runco said Wayne County "ought to equalize" with surrounding counties where liquor store owners are gaining business from Wayne residents, and also within the county where bar owners are allowed Sunday sales but package-store owners are not.

Mrs. Dumas said that the question is neither moral or ethical, but purely a business consideration, with Wayne County losing business to neighboring counties.

"Our small businessmen need and deserve the same equity," observed Mrs. Beard. "The majority of counties in the state allow Sunday sales, and it really doesn't make any sense for us not to allow it also."

An opponent of Sunday sales in the past, Carter said additional research changed his opinion. Citing Prohibition as an example, Carter said that "people have a way of finding their pleasure" regardless of the law. He said also that he has found no evidence of increased alcoholism in neighboring counties because of the Sunday sales.

Killeen spoke against the ordinance, he said, because the availability of any drug increases its use. "If somebody has to go outside the county for a drink, he is in pretty bad shape," Killeen declared. "It disturbs me when I hear it said that this is not a moral issue."

Agreeing with Killeen that alcoholism is a disease, Carter pointed to unemployment as "another kind of disease." Losing business means losing jobs and employment opportunity, he said, but he urged the Board to continue county anti alcohol-abuse programs.

Senior plan fall trip

The Romulus Senior Citizens are traveling to Georgian Bay, Canada, for the fall colors, and they're extending an invitation to all those who wish to join them.

The seniors will be staying at the Elgin House from Sept. 27 through Sept. 30 (four days, three nights and eight meals). A boat cruise will be organized to view the 30,000 Islands and the entire trip will cost $179.

Everyone is welcome. Telephone Marilyn Masters, Romulus Recreation Center for further information at 941-0666.

Adult education

It's never too late to think about Christmas gifts.

And the Huron Adult Education has exactly what you need for the holidays.

"We have Cake Decorating classes to teach you how to make cakes of all shapes and designs," said Mary Cast, program coordinator. "Some Christmas candy making is also included."

Also available is a ceramics class to teach coloring and firing of Ceramics-Greenware. Participants may learn how to create some very personalized Christmas gifts at Huron Adult Education.

The program has a full variety of academic and enrichment classes, and also G.E.D. preparation courses.

Classes are free to non-graduates, Senior Citizens, and those under 20. (Book and lab fees may be charged) for high school graduates, academic classes are $15, and vocational classes are $25.

For more information, call Ms. Cast at 782-1505.

CITY OF ROMULUS NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF ROMULUS COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT COUNTY OF WAYNE, MICHIGAN FOR THE SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1981

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a Special School Election will be held in said School District on Tuesday, November 3, 1981, and in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law", I, the undersigned City Clerk, will upon any day EXCEPT Sunday, and a legal holiday, the day of any regular, or special election, receive for registration, the name of any resident of the City of Romulus not registered, who may APPLY TO ME PERSONALLY (or authorized substitute) for such registration EXCEPT during the time intervening between the Close of Registration for the SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby given that I will be at the City of Romulus Clerk's Office, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan on:

MONDAY THRU FRIDAY 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

AND, THE LAST DAY TO REGISTER: MONDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1981 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

The following proposition will be submitted to the electors:

OPERATING DEFICIT FUNDING PROPOSAL

Shall Romulus Community School District, County of Wayne, Michigan, borrow the principal sum of not to exceed $3,000,000 and issue its unlimited tax bonds or notes as therefor for the purpose of funding the School District's operating deficit?

For the purpose of REVIEWING THE REGISTRATION AND REGISTER-ING such of the qualified electors in said City who shall properly apply therefore, the name of no person but an ACTUAL RESIDENT of the City of Romulus at the time of registration, entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, provides in parts as follows:

"The inspectors of election at an annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person reside."

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, as amended, registrations will not be taken by school officials, and only persons who have registered as general electors with the appropriate City or Township Clerk of the City and Township in which they reside, or through registration at a Secretary of State driver's license bureau, are registered school electors.

'The money machine'

Co-Op Services Credit Union installed a 24-hour, 7-day a week, any time teller machine for the convenience of the Romulus area residents and workers. Bob Huston (at right), general manager, and Chris Jones (center), Romulus Service Center manager, look on as Dave Novak, a Kelsey Hayes employee, gets ready to make a transaction of Romulus' first 24-hour teller machine. The machine is located at 38900 West Huron River Drive in the Credit Union's lobby.

Co-Op Services introduces Romulus' 1st 24-hour teller

The Romulus location of Co-op Services Credit Union has installed the first 24 hour Anytime Teller Machine in the area. Co-op Services is the leader in Romulus in making available financial service at the touch of a button 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

In late February of this year, the second largest merger in Michigan's history took place between the KelHay Federal Credit Union and Co-op Services Credit Union.

As a result of this merger, Co-op Services opened a service center at 38900 W. Huron River Drive, the former office of the KelHay Federal Credit Union.

According to Bob Huston, General Manager of Co-op Service Credit Union, installing the 24-hour Anytime Teller Machine is "part of our progressive movement to continually service our members at their convenience." Huston went on to add that the success of all the Anytime Teller Machines throughout the Detroit and metropolitan area prompted him to provide this service to the city of Romulus.

Co-op Services Credit Union, a non-profit organization chartered in 1954, has rapidly grown to become the fourth largest credit union in the state in terms of total membership. A major factor in the credit union's expansion has been its open membership charter.

Huston said: "Our sponsoring organization is Cooperative Services, Inc., a non-profit consumer cooperative, which is open to all people for membership at a nominal cost of $2. You can join Co-op Services Credit Union at the same time for 25 cents, which is a lifetime membership. We have members throughout the United States who transact business by mail or telephone."

Co-op Services continued growth is also attributed to the exceptional financial services and benefits it offers. Currently paying a high 6 percent annual dividend (interest) on savings, offering a 'check-like' account called savings drafts which earns daily interest, and the many other outstanding savings programs, enables Co-op Services to compete effectively with other types of financial institutions.

The credit union not only serves individual members, but employee groups as well.

Huston explains, "Unlike most credit unions which serve just one parent company, we provide credit union service to the employees of more than 500 companies around the metropolitan area. Many employers believe credit union service is a valuable fringe benefit for their employees and have established payroll deduction programs through the credit union."

Among the many local employers who have set up the program are Micro Measurements, Huron Valley Steel, United Brass, F.X. Coughlin and Kelsey Hayes. Huston added that there was no fee or charge to an organization for setting up such a program.

Anyone requesting information about joining Co-op Services Credit Union is welcome to come in to 38900 W. Huron River Drive or call the Romulus office at 941-3880. The service center is open on Monday, 10 AM to 6 PM, Tuesday through Thursday, 10 AM to 5 PM, and Friday, 8 AM to 6 PM.

Deason elected president of booster club

The New Boston Huron Athletic Booster Club greeted the new athletic year with a new slate of officers. Club members elected officers for the 1981-82 year.

The club officers are: Jim Deason, president; Irene Scheffer, vice president; Joyce Whitehouse, treasurer; Mary Ann Pinter, recording secretary; Carolyn Deason, corresponding secretary; and trustees Phil Baschal, Arnold Doede and Dave Whitehouse.

The September meeting officially started the new sports year for the Huron Athletic Booster Club. The club was busy all summer with the Waltz Homecoming concession stand and the Labor Day weekend rummage sale. Both were successful despite rain at the homecoming and threatening skies at the rummage sale. An all time high profit of $3,500, was made at the rummage sale.

One of the upcoming projects for the booster club — this fall season will be a raffle booth at the New Boston Applefest. Prizes will be a microwave oven, chain saw, ten speed bicycle, television and a hand made afghan. Chairwomen of the booth will be Julie Martin and Irene Scheffer.

November 7 will be the date of a "50's" Dance held at the V.F.W. Hall in Romulus. There will be a disc-jockey playing original songs from the 50's. A cold cuts and side dish buffet and beer and set-ups will be provided. The cost will be $15 per couple and tickets are available from any club member or call 753-4728. In charge of the dance will be Margaret Shearrer, Julie Martin and Irene Scheffer.

The annual "200" Club year long raffle tickets are on sale now for a limited time. Only 200 tickets are sold and 61 prizes are awarded with chances of winning more than once. Call 753-4838 or 654-9198 for more information.

Hunter safety classes set

Huron High will host a Hunter Safety Class this week for youths between the ages of 12 to 18.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning 782-2441. There is a $3 registration fee which goes toward the purchase of the unting certificate and badge.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

DR. RAY ELWART DR. DAN ELWART DR. MICHAEL SHAFT

Q. Dear Dr. Elwart, what is a Chiro-therm used for?

A. This was the instrument we had pictured in last week's column. A Chiro-therm is used to detect differences in degrees of temperature of one side of the spine compared to the other. If there is a difference, for instance one side reads 90° and the other 92°, there is probably some nerve impingement at that level. This pinched nerve can cause a multitude of problems for a person which may eventually lead to a disease. This instrument's reading is only one of a number of tests used by a chiropractor to determine if there is a misalignment (subluxation) of the spinal bones at that level.

Q. Dear Dr. Shaft, what are some things that can cause a backache?

A. Underexercised muscles, poor posture, pain from disease in the body, pain from disease of the spine and pinched nerves.

Pinched nerves are the result of subluxations in the spinal column. When a spinal nerve is pinched, it is impossible for that nerve to carry normal nerve impulses to the parts of the body it is supposed to serve, and disease is inevitable.

Backache and associated abnormal nerve function are primarily the result of misaligned vertebrae in the spinal column. These misalignments are caused by poor muscular development, muscle spasms due to over-use and tensions, poor posture and strains and sprains of the supporting structures of the spine. Even the slightest misalignment (subluxation) of one or more of the spinal vertebra may pinch vital nerves so that normal nerve function is impaired.

The chiropractor is the doctor best trained to determine precisely which vertebrae are involved in the impingement of nerves... but more important... the chiropractor is the doctor most experienced in correcting spinal subluxations.

End of road patrol; end of an era

Of late, it isn't very difficult to define what makes a good township or city. For most of us, it's a place that is a safe place to live.

Unfortunately, for many there "are no good communities any more." One is not immune from felons and felonies if he resides in Birmingham or in Belleville, in Inkster or in Detroit.

And one also can hear the torrents of criticism of our law enforcement agencies which are accused of not providing citizens with ample police protection. Justly or unjustly, the criticism has been with us since the beginning of time.

Life is porcelain and is as easily breakable.

Our neighborhoods are plagued by gangs who terrorize the weak and the old. Some seniors have become prisoners in their own homes, afraid to venture into the streets in the light hours; never in the evenings.

And one can only speculate what our society would become without police protection. If we scream for more when they are standing by, what would we do if they were abolished.

One such unit, the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol, after a bitter court battle, will soon become history. It has served its purpose in the past, but the laws of economics — when you don't have the money — have caught up. The patrol will be dismantled because Circuit Court Judge Harvey W. Moes believes that the county commissioners have that authority to do so.

We wonder: if the county was not saddled with a $16 million deficit, but was in the black by $16 million, would the court decision also be the same?

We understand the court action; but we disapprove of it. It leaves many residents of Wayne County with only partial police protection during a time and era when they need more. Not less.

The exit of the Road Patrol in this area will unmistakably be felt.

And the transition from county to local police protection should be completed as soon as possible.

Canton's still a township

"Since when did Canton become a city," asked a reader of a red-faced editor last week.

Canton is not a city as most of us in these parts know and last week the Canton Eagle, one of several newspapers published by the Associated Newspapers carried an erroneous headline that proclaimed "City says 'No' to landfill expansion plans".

Obviously, the word "city" should have been omitted, and the word "township" used in its stead.

But what the reader didn't know, as well as the editor, is how do you fit the word "township" in a 48 size headline across two columns. It isn't possible.

In fact, it would be easier for Canton to accept cityhood.

Now that's an interesting thought.

Parental concerns

If the taking of a human life is not considered a "criminal act," then, would you please define what is "a criminal act."

After reading the Sept. 17 issue of The Wayne Eagle, I am really disgusted to live in such a place that puts a dog's life over that of the children of this community.

There is no doubt in my mind that the dog, involved in the "mauling" of the two year old child, will be patted on the head and let go. There is no justice, especially since the dog has not been destroyed.

I am a parent, who wonders where this animal will strike next if allowed to go "free".

I personally do not understand why the owners of such an "animal" has not taken it upon themselves to have this "vicious animal" disposed of. Maybe the owners do not realize that the next attack of this animal could be upon someone within their own family.

Parents worry enough about the safety of their children without knowing that a "killer animal" is definitely out there ready to strike again.

My children are much too precious to me to have unnecessary risks taken with their safety.

The dog has proven its viciousness and should be destroyed.

Post festival notes

Jaycees say "thank you"

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the people who helped make the Wayne Jaycee Park Building Authority Dunk Tank at the Homecoming Festival, such a success.

Thanks go to Glenna Sharkey, Sheri Miller, Link Bundun, Big Mike, Jim Spada, and the pretty Red-head.

Thanks also to Sheila Caincross and Deanna Wright of the Wayne Jaycees, Mel McGowan, Roger Fielhauer, Bill Wright and Al Damitio of the Wayne Jaycees, and Clifford Johnson of the Metro-Wayne Democratic Club.

Special thanks go to Wayne's City Manager Tom Daily and Community Development Director John Zech, Mayor Pat Norton, Mayor Pro-Tem Milton Mack and councilman Charles West.

Special thanks also go to Festival Commissioners Bev. Campbell, Ed Rowe, and Sam Caincross for taking the time during their busy Weekend to take a turn in the tank.

The Building Authority's undying gratitude goes out to the following Police and Fire Department members who were lead by the Department of Public Safety Director Ray LaCorno; Lt. Bill Whitworth, Sgt. Art Morton, Patrolman Dan Randalls, Firemen Owen McGill and Al Gibelou for taking turns on the hot seat. (Lt. Whitworth put in 3½ hours and Sgt. Morton 2½ hours.)

Lastly I'd like to thank commissioner Sharon Popek who was instrumental in helping many of these individuals decide to volunteer.

All profits from this project go to maintain and make improvements in the building at Jaycee Park. Any organization is welcome to meet there regularly free of charge. For more information call 326-7779.

For those who cover the scene, there is an unadmitted ecstasy in politics and politicians because they are "fair game." Believe me, they are not like other people. There is continuous drama around them.

And the daily drama can take one to heaven and hell with each sentence... with each word.

So it is with Patrick Norton, who is the Mayor of Wayne whose oral exam on the subject he loves the most — Wayne — is intense and overwhelmingly optimistic.

It would be proper to say, to write here, that one can't be indifferent to Pat Norton. You either like him or hate him. And it is hard to be anything else. He will leave you numb with the admiration of Wayne. He believes in his city, and he will not allow any unjustified and unqualified criticism of his home town.

What makes Wayne so great? Is it the taxes it reaps from Ford Motor Company's Wayne Assembly Plant? Is it the decipherable shapes to come with the recent passage of the Downtown Development Authority? What makes Wayne more politically stable than it's neighbors to the north?

"There is no king of the castle syndrome here," the 43-year-old local businessman says. "The political powers here diffuse in committee form. The government is run by committee form."

If the government is so good, why do people shy away from running for council? There hasn't been a primary in this city for many years. To the south, more than 15 candidates covet the City Council seats in Romulus; to the north, 10 candidates fought it out for the right to become a Westland city councilman.

"Because," Norton argues, "that people in this city are reasonably satisfied with what goes on. If they weren't, they'd be out running for council. And they would be at the council meetings demanding changes. I can guarantee you that."

"And believe me, if this town doesn't like something, it will react. But the thing is, we the council, also will react to solve their problems."

Norton has been on the council for the past 17 years and also served as mayor of the city for at least seven of those years. He feels the elected officials of this city do not attempt to subterfuge or bamboozle the people — and the swimming pool is an excellent example of that.

A few years back the council wanted to bond for an enclosed pool, a one-of-its-kind enclosure that would attract world-wide recognition. The voters didn't buy it.

"People here get involved, and they participate in decisions they feel that will effect their lives, and this is what this city is all about."

"You know people ask me, 'Why don't I run for state representative or state senator,'" Norton smiles, "well, first of all the state senator (William Faust) is a close friend. And I couldn't beat him anyway. And the state rep...well, I like it here."

Apparently, a lot of others do as well.

When your pocket book can't pay public services

By BERNARD F. HILLENBRAND

Two years ago Chicagoans voted Mayor Michael Bilandic out of office following a severe winter when his administration failed to provide snow removal.

Thus, the political consequences from loss of services are foremost in the minds of the nation's local officials as they go through yet another cold season of budget hearings.

Next year the political heat is going to be enough to melt a glacier, but loss of federal funds, so far, is incidental. Down at the courthouse they're still snowed under by four earlier storms. Added to inflation have come the gales of tax reform in 35 states, labor demands and increased responsibility for mandated services. In San Diego, for example, 92 percent of the 1982 budget will pay for the mandates of state and federal government.

It seems as if President Ronald Reagan has merely thrown the snowball that set into motion a great big electric goodbye snow-removal garbage-collection jelly-bean machine now moving out from Washington sucking up every type of community service in sight.

Sure, some communities will make local government more efficient. But most counties are balancing the budget by deferring maintenance of aging facilities, putting aside planned reorganization and innovations that could have saved money.

Every income group will be affected. Suffering will not, as reporter Dan Balz of the Washington Post recently wrote, be "largely personal, muffled, invisible to the community at large." There are few parents who won't complain when they realize that increases in school lunches exceed reductions of federal income tax.

Here is a sampling of some hard decisions local officials are making: Virginia Beach, Va. reduced garbage collection from twice to once a week.

Roanoke County, Va. will operate on 85 percent of its 1981 budget. Garbage collection fees will increase 50 percent.

DeKalb County, Ga. water and sewer fees will almost double.

New Castle County (Wilmington), Del., is increasing many fees for services. Baseball teams will pay $400 annually to use park fields. It will cost more to get married, use an ambulance, file a will, register deeds, receive inheritance or die.

Last year Cincinnati's school food service provided 28,000 meals daily, two-thirds were free. Paid lunches formerly costing 35 cents will now sell for 65 cents, and there will be no free milk for those who carry brown bags. Director Diane Sakmyster suspects more people will apply for free lunches this semester, balancing any reduction that might have come from new income limits approved by Congress. Cincinnati's program is subsidized by local taxes. In Akron, a similar lunch will cost 95 cents in elementary and $1.05 in high schools.

Clark County (Las Vegas), Nev., will no longer have cash assistance for unemployed, able-bodied singles and couples without children.

To avoid losing branch libraries, Baltimore has been closing each one a month annually, operating the remainder reduced hours. Recently, the city also closed an inner city maternity clinic and reduced family planning sessions from 17 to 10 a week. Loss of state funds will require phasing out 15 day care centers, although only one has closed to date.

Scott County (Davenport), Iowa, consolidated two drug abuse centers.

Cumberland County (Portland), Maine, is charging rent to subpoena servers.

Middlesex County, Mass. has reduced its staff by 25 percent. They don't expect to repair many roads or bridges this year.

Marion County (Indianapolis), Ind. needs $9.5 million to buy capital equipment and $1 billion to repair sewers. Seven years of deferred investment has left them with 10-year-old garbage trucks, 20-year-old buses and antiquated snow removal equipment.

In June, 122 patients were "dumped" on Cook County (Ill.) Hospital by the city's 22 private facilities. In July that number increased to 350. Each month Administrator William M. Doyle expects more charity cases. "Private hospitals anticipate reduction in Medicaid reimbursements," he says. The county, of course, may not get reimbursed either, but they can't leave sick people in the street. They will have to cut services other ways.

Escambia County (Pensacola), Fla.

Administrator Rodney Kendig has recommended sale of their public general hospital, because 53 percent of its patients don't (or can't) pay their bills. Twenty-two firms are interested in the property. The sale would save $4 million spent annually on health care for poor people ineligible for Medicaid. The county plans less maintenance of public buildings, less pest control, and little road repair. Licenses, inspections and deeds will take longer to obtain because there will be fewer people to process them. Mass transit is expected to increase 50 percent by April 1.

A Dallas detoxification program serving 80 alcoholics a day shut down when its federal grant expired. Some judges are holding hearings in former lounges, for courtroom construction has again been deferred.

Education in turmoil

EDITOR — I have a deep concern for the education of children in the State of Michigan. I feel I'm part of a suicide pact. A fine person, Shirley Lombardi, has just resigned from the Romulus schoolboard.

Many people blame our local politics. Being a board member and knowing Shirley is an intelligent person, I feel she knew she was fighting a losing battle. If no source of revenue materializes, I would choose not to run for re-election.

It is very depressing to cast the votes that rip apart an education system. It is even more depressing to see the contempt of students who are deprived of a good rounded-out program.

People refuse to vote any tax increases. Teachers want salaries that compare with rising inflation. Budget cuts in the state and federal budgets have reduced aid to education drastically.

Dr. William Bedell, Supt. of Schools, has brought to our attention that the state aid formula is set up in such a way that our revenues for the year 1981 were the same as in 1979 and 1980!

Incredible, considering the staggering inflation in the areas of salaries, materials, utilities and maintenance.

Parents are usually eager to give their children material things as part of their development.

Education can make those years livable, possibly enjoyable. A lack of education can make a life of unemployment and despair.

Invest in Education now so that you can reap the rewards of inventions, cures and leaders; leaders who will care for their elders needs, as the elderly cared for their Education and needs as young people.

When I came on the board, I inherited a loan that had been rolling for several years against anticipated state aid.

This year we were lucky to get one bid at 14% against our tax collection — no one would bid against anticipated state aid!

The interest on this loan for one year equals one mil in our district.

We need access to low interest loans and a revision in the state aid formula so districts voting for school millage aren't penalized by excessive reduction in state aid. Write Your Congressman! Let's put Education first.

Politics in Westland

EDITOR — The same day as the recent primary election in Westland, I received a piece of paper in the mail concerning a candidate competing for a city council job.

Only the most uneducated people reading this piece of paper could call it literature.

The person this mail was promoting for city council was more than anxious to find fault with anyone he didn't care for even through he obviously did not do his "home-work"!

Misstated was the fact that Rep. Tom Brown needs two more years to get a city pension and that Tom was ousted out of City Hall in 1969! Ridiculous! There isn't a finer elected official around.

Also was mentioned the fact that "Mr. Brown went to Lansing and stayed there just long enough to get a State Pension!"

First of all, Tom Brown was elected by the people of the 37th District to represent them in Lansing and while he does qualify for a State Pension it is only because, for eleven years he paid into the pension fund!

Charles (Trav) Griffin is campaigning for his third term on the council. He has been affiliated with the Democratic Party in the state, served as a member of Wayne-Westland's Board of Education, served as a member of the Westland Jaycees and currently belongs to the Michigan Executive Directors Association.

With a Bachelor and Masters degree, Mr. Griffin obviously has done his home-work. I wish other candidates had his equal in qualifications. The third member of Tom Browns slate is Kenneth Mehl, who was called in this mail, A mouthpiece for the City Hall gang on the planning commission". Mentioned too, was the fact, in your opinion, he has traded his independence for the blessing of the crew in power!"

Mr. Mehl earned the endorsement of the Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO, the 15th District Congressional Democratic Party, AFSCME Local 1881, Metro Wayne Democratic Club and more. Unfortunately, one candidate thinks that being a member of the Wayne-Westland Bowling Association qualifies to help make the many non-bowling decisions that have to be made by a councilman?

Instead of concentrating on telling the voters how "bad" the other guys are, perhaps you should show us how "good" you are!

Full-time police needed

EDITOR — Presently, petitions are being circulated throughout the township to ask the voters if they would consider placing a 1.7 mill tax on the ballot for the upgrading of equipment and an increase in manpower of the Sumpter Township Police Department.

As a trustee of the Township and Commissioner of Police, I feel the need to clarify the purpose of such a request.

The Board of Trustees is simply trying to determine whether or not the voters would like such a proposal on the ballot, rather than arbitrarily placing the question before the voters.

I know that no one including myself is in favor of increasing taxes, but with the reductions in the availability of grant monies, the cutbacks in the CETA program, and the demise of the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol, we have no recourse other than to ask the residents of Sumpter to help their own Township Police.

In the past months, our police department has been able to serve the residents only sixteen out of twenty four hours.

On September 1, we were able to increase our services an additional two hours a day, but we will eventually be forced to discontinue even this minute increase due to the increased cost or the loss of manpower should an officer become disabled or resign.

Under the law, the Board is required to stay within the allotted budget. Despite the one mill voted by the residents for the General Fund, none of this money required to adequately equip and maintain the Police Department and provide the full service we would like to.

It's up to you, the voters of Sumpter, to decide.

Rescue unit commended

EDITOR — May I please use your newspaper as a vehicle to express my appreciation to two emergency rescue persons, Lee Gibelyou and Robert Dahlman. On August 30, the day of my ridiculous but extremely painful fall, I was so very grateful for their swift, professional and incredibly gentle care, even to the extent of taking the route with the least bumps.

Again, gentlemen, you have real class and from my heart I thank you.

Stop dumping toxic wastes

EDITOR — Let me congratulate you on your stand against the expansion of the Woodland Meadows landfill in Canton Township. Too often newspapers refuse to give coverage, especially local newspapers, to controversial subjects in fear of antagonizing local politicians or potential advertisers.

However, your editorial staff should be commended for the job it did by giving all of the readers in Canton and the surrounding areas the fullest of details.

The job obviously isn't over. Toxic wastes are poisoning our lands, finding its way into our water streams and into our bodies. I think it's high time that all of us became aware of how critical the situation really is.

I do not want to sound like a "doomsday" for-earth, person, but how can we expect to plant the seeds of poison into our lands and not expect fatal consequences?

Stop toxic wastes, now.

And keep up the good job in reporting those who would try to poison our lands.

Belleville booster irate

EDITOR — Where were you when we needed you? On Saturday, Sept. 12, the Belleville Wrestling Booster Club put on a "Kick-off" Dance at a local hall and all proceeds were being donated to the Belleville sports program, but we failed to get out local newspapers' and community support.

Having a high school sports program is a benefit to the parents, the teachers, the bus drivers, the entire community, and especially the kids. So "Where Were You."???

The same old faces that work their tails off for everything were there, of course, but so many of you were not!

The PNA hall holds about 400 people, but only about 100 came. We could have made over $2,000 for the kids, but only cleared about $300. after expenses. That's a shame. We have $113,000 to earn by the end of the school year. $40,000 has to be paid by the end of the football season. It's my understanding that we've earned less than $5,000 so far.

That includes parent donations, the fifty-fifty raffle, and community support in general. Come on people, are you going to sit back and let it all gently murmuring lake, and we both knew that even though we couldn't explain faith, and even though we weren't sure we always had it, still, somehow, a promise had been made for Helen that night, and the conviction had filled her being.

Somehow through the curtain, the misty, elusive curtain that comes between us as we leave one state of being, and enter into another state of being, come and dream, touching on the truth with its full promise. Perhaps it came in symbolism, but it made me know, absolutely know, that somewhere out there, our dearest Helen is playing with her little "precious" in the fragrant gardens of the heavens.

And someday.....

MONA GRIGG

In 1685 early they became the backbone of the British Royal Army and employed for all the fronts of the vast British Empire. In Africa, India, America, Australia, and New Zealand. They were everywhere for the king. In 1915/18 they became very famous fighting with French Army on the river "Marne" and during the 2nd World War they fought against the Germans and Japanese. In Greece, in France, in Africa, in Normandy they were everywhere on the first line. In Malasia jungles, in Birmania and in New Zealand they fought very courageously against the overflying Japanese Army until the victory. They were very important also in Korea in 1950/55 and, today, unfortunately, the fought in Ireland.

You're going to have to go some to beat that one, but if you're interested in forming a local bad-grammar collector's association, if you promise never to say "ain't", I might share my sources with you.

Reflections

To laugh, cry and die

(Author's note: I had not intended to write this for it seems that in the past two years there have been so many, so very many, for whom I have written my personal goodbye. And I felt that, perhaps, my readers might wish me to keep my sorrow to myself. As the news spread, however, many calls came asking me to make sure they receive a copy of my own goodbye to someone who is precious and beloved to me, my sister-in-law, my friend, Helen.)

Last night I dreamed that the gates of heaven opened wide, and a tiny little miss called Kristi stood in the mists of that heavenly city, arms outspread, waiting for her "nana."

And in my dream I saw them embrace, the grandmother holding her "precious" tight against her breast, tears of joy pouring down her cheeks, and the sound of joyous music swirling about them.

And in my dream I saw them turn and wave to those who could not enter, and the smiles on their faces, and the joy in their eyes, were wondrous to behold, for they seemed to say that it was not the end, but the beginning, and someday, someday.....

I wakened and somehow I felt comforted, for my heart had been bleak since the call came that our Helen, our little sister, had suddenly left us.

It was only a few short months ago that we had sat on the beach of Mullet Lake, the waves gently lapping at our feet, and the light of a full moon touching the waters with a silvery haze.

And in that soft Delvery darkness we had talked. We had talked of the brothers who became our husbands, we talked of our children, and of our grandchildren.

We laughed together as we recalled the day that her granddaughter, Laurel, and my grandson, Jamie, had busied themselves all afternoon on that very beach filling the dock posts with sand.

We laughed as we recalled how they chased the baby ducks, and the mama duck chased them. And we were happy in the recalling.

The moon hid behind a tiny cloud and a stillness crept over us, for then we began remembering Kristi, her "precious" who had left us a couple of years before.

We talked of faith, and it was then that Helen turned to me, her small hands unnaturally still in her lap, her dark eyes shimmering with tears.

"I will never, never be able to understand why Kristi had to go," she said, and then her face closed against itself as her thoughts turned inward. She let out a little sigh, and then she said, "I don't know much about faith, really...I don't know whether I have it or whether I haven't but I do know this, that I WILL see Kristi again, and I WILL be with her again."

And as the moon rode out behind the cloud and covered us with its silvery glow, we looked out over the good for cards!"

But after the fun was over, I thought about what a paper like that, issued from an institution of learning, does to an eight-year-old kid who is going there to learn spelling and grammar and sentence structure.

I am no grammarian — I don't pretend to be — but if I were in the business of teaching children, I would surely proof read every piece of paper issued from that place of learning to be sure examples of bad spelling and grammar didn't fall into the wrong impressionable hands.

There are enough bad examples bombarding them every day through the media and in conversations with their peers.

Why don't schools stress spelling and grammar?

Why aren't kids hung up by their thumbs for saying things like "I don't gont none"?

I've seen papers graded with "A's" with no punctuation, glaring grammatical errors and words you simply have to guess at. No matter what, that's not an "A" paper. It takes time to grade papers, to be sure, but that teacher (or that parent) owes it to that kid to correct spelling and grammar.

That kid has to face a cold, cruel world some day.

At conference time one year, our daughter said, "Don't forget to see Mr. So-and-so, he's the COOLEST teacher!"

Mr So-and-so was cool, all right. His sentences were liberally sprinkled with "Ain'ts" and "Babys" and he said the kids really "grabbed" his class.

He sounded a lot like Arthur Penhallow (Ask your kids). I've since tried to imagine any one of my own high school teachers saying "ain't" or "baby" — or sounding like Mickey Schorr... (Ask your parents).

Actually, if the truth be known, I LOVE bad grammar. I collect examples of it like kids collect baseball cards. And some day, when bad grammar catches on as a collector's item, I will have the gem of them all. The only reason I'm sharing it with you today is because bad grammar examples are only worth something if they are in their original containers — books or newspapers — or boxes, as in this case.

I have in my possession a box of little toy soldiers known as the "Royal Fusiliers", and the only thing I'll tell you about it's country of origin is that it isn't in the orient. Every word, every sentence, every non-punctuation is exactly as it appears on the box:

"The 'Royal Fusiliers' were born

Pvt. Brunetti participates in jungle warfare

Marine Pvt. Anthony R. Brunetti Jr., son of David H. and Charlene L. Hatch of 50333 Willis Road, Belleville, recently participated in jungle warfare training in Panama.

He is a member of the 1st Battalion, 10th Marines, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

The Marines of his battalion participated in training at the Jungle Operations Training Center at Fort Sherman, a U.S. Army base. The three-week course included both academic instruction and practical exercises in all phases of jungle warfare and survival. It encompasses land, air, and water operations.

A 1980 graduate of Lincoln Consolidated High School, Ypsilanti, Mich., Brunetti joined the Marine Corps in February 1980.

Marine Cpl. Samuel A. Ramirez, son of Mary G. DeRosia of 34619 Julie Drive, Romulus, has reported for duty with Headquarters and Service Battalion, First Force Service Support Group, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A 1973 graduate of Romulus High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1978. His wife, Malinda, is the daughter of Lester and Edith Tucker of 5669 Homedale, Detroit.

Navy Aviation Machinist's MATE Airman Recruit Richard D. Slage, son of Lawrence D. and Patricia A. Slage of 27502 Versailles Lane, Romulus, has completed the Aviation Machinist's Mate Basic Jet Engine Course.

During the five-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Millington, Tenn., students received introductory instruction on the characteristics and operating principles of jet engines. Their studies included engine lubrication, ignition and fuel systems.

Additionally, they studied the procedures for refueling and defueling aircraft, for removal and installation of aircraft engines and for the operation of aircraft ground handling equipment.

A 1980 graduate of Woodhaven High School, Woodhaven, he joined the Navy in April 1981.

Gregory A. Harris, 17, son of Alvin and Elizabeth Harris, 44164 Robson Rd., Belleville, enlisted in the U.S. Air Force today, departing here for six weeks basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

Following completion of basic, says his recruiter, Technical Sergeant Roy Smith, 3645 Metro Place Mall, Harris has been guaranteed training as an Electric Power Line Specialist.

Smith added that the 1981 graduate of Belleville High School will receive college credit for his Air Force training through the Community College of the Air Force.

Upon graduation from technical training school, Harris will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Kim E. Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig M. Kupser of 42092 Lincoln, Belleville, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Daly is a ground equipment mechanic at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., with the 341th Consolidated Maintenance Squadron.

She is a 1979 graduate of Belleville High School.

Child care center moves to Romulus

The Kangaroo Learning Center has relocated its day care and other educational services to Romulus. The new facility is located at 29814 11th Rd. just west of Fiddlebelt Rd. in Romulus.

Kangaroo not only has professional day care, but also offers Pre-school through Third grade based on the Montessori Method. Infant care from age 11 months and after school care for youths through 18 years of age is also available.

"Well balanced, hot meals and snacks are included in a child's specified program," day care center officials say.

Transportation will be provided to Romulus and surrounding communities at an additional charge.

Extracurricular activities such as gymnastics, ballet, and piano lessons are available. The center is open 24 hours, Monday through Friday.

Hunting classes deal with life and death issues

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

How relevant are today's hunter safety classes?

As relevant as life and death in some instances, according to Charles Colburn, a veteran outdoorsman from Westland.

"When I was growing up in Wayne you didn't need to take any class to be able to hunt," recalled Colburn, now 37. "I saved my school lunch money so I could buy a shotgun and shells when I was 15. And my parents didn't even know I had purchased a gun until I told them."

"Things were more lax then," he added. "Luckily, I went hunting in those days with a neighbor who cared about safety. He gave me a lotta stern lectures."

Colburn obviously learned a lesson since today he's a strong advocate of hunter safety classes, which are mandatory for those under 17 years-old to obtain a license in Michigan. A member of the Wayne County Sportsman's Club in Romulus, he hopes that the organization's upcoming safety courses attract both the teen and adult hunters.

The club's two-day course deals with such topics as gun handling, survival, compass and map usage and hunter ethics. It will be offered for a $2 fee on October 10-11 and November 7-8 at the club facility, 18102 South Inkster Road.

Registration is scheduled from 8 to 9 a.m. on opening day with classes held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day. Questions regarding the course can be directed to Sherman Lambly of New Boston at 782-2895.

"Having the younger hunters learn about ethics in the field will help us clean up our own ranks," Colburn said. "We're looking for an image of being sportsmen instead of what the anti-hunters make us out to be. That image comes from not poaching, from taking only the legal amount of game, from seeking permission to go on private land and so on."

"The public also should be made aware that special taxes assessed on hunters help support wildlife programs."

Colburn enjoys small game, duck and deer hunting and has journeyed to Canada in search of bear and moose. The Westland gamesman is serving a three-year term on the board of directors of the Wayne County Sportsman's Club, which is affiliated with a number of outdoors' groups including the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the National Rifle Association and the National Wildlife Federation.

Trap and skeet shooting, indoor archery and an outdoor shooting range are featured at the club, open to members for a $20 annual fee.

Hunter safety, however, remains one of the organization's pet projects despite the relative safety of the sport today, according to Colburn.

"It's (hunting) very safe now but it could be safer," the director observed. "I've read where there's between 600 and 800 hunting fatalities per year in the United States. Hunting doesn't rank very high in causing deaths—in fact even among accidental deaths, it rates behind motor vehicle mishaps, falls, drowning, fires and poison."

"Every year a great number of the deaths reported during deer season are a result of heart attacks, not shootings," Colburn said. "The actual number of those killed is very small considering you have 600,000 to 700,000 hunters in the field during deer season.

"Of course, the number of deaths ideally is zero. In 20 to 30 years all hunters in the field will have taken a hunter safety class. Through this education I expect to see a continual drop in hunting deaths."

Colburn has some first-hand evidence that reinforces his belief in safety through education. Some very frightening evidence.

"I've hunted before with a friend who I have to keep an eye on all the time," he said. "I never know where he's going to point his gun. One time I turned around and found a gun barrel staring me in the face."

"And yet his son is very safety conscious—I wouldn't hesitate to hunt with him. His father should take the safety class his son did."

Colburn practices what he preaches, too. His son, Bobby, has been enrolled in an upcoming hunter safety class sponsored by the Sportsman's Club.

"We must make our kids aware that a weapon is capable of doing harm," said Colburn. "They must always consider a gun to be loaded."

That good looking fella in this staged photo is Associated Newspapers' chief photographer Lothar Konietzko. Taken in 1956, it depicts our photographer at one of his former hunting spots in Van Buren Township (he also enjoyed hunting in Canton Township in those days). A member of the V-8 hunting club and the National Rifle Association, Konietzko agrees that today's young hunters are more safety conscious due to the various hunter safety classes being offered. "Parents are more concerned with safety and they're passing this down to their kids," he said.

The audience was extremely receptive to the talents of Broadway performers Liza Minnelli and Joel Grey during their recent sold-out performances at Pine Knob. And with good reason! After each had performed indi-

Play in Allen Park strives for laughs

The Komed Players Dinner Theatre will open a new season of zany stage productions this Friday at Bambi's Welcome Mat, located on Allen Road, one block north of Southfield Road in Allen Park.

A product of Premiere Productions, the Komed Players will perform Tom Sharkey's "My Heart Reminds Me" on Fridays and Saturdays through November 21. The comedy features an assortment of characters, ranging from a married couple to a Swiss sexologist, a Bulgarian actor and a sexy, Hollywood actress.

The six characters in the play are performed by two actors, whose costume and character changes are geared to astound the audience.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. with the show to open at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the salad bar, dinner and show are priced at $12.95 each on Fridays and $14.95 on Saturdays. Reservations are required.

Tickets for Friday's opening night performance or any of the weekly shows through Nov. 21 can be purchased by contacting the box office at 661-1383.

Astonishing Neal to perform Friday

The Astonishing Neal, a nationally recognized Paramentalist entertainer, will perform at Schoolcraft College on Friday at 8 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center. Sponsored by the Student Programming Special Events Committee,

Neal will perform a two hour program, "A Close Encounter With the Mind."

Neal, a unique entertainment phenomenon, is continuing his quest to establish himself as the "World's Greatest Paramentalist." He performed at Schoolcraft College in 1978 and 1980, making believers out of many skeptics with his demonstrations.

Tickets are $2.50 and will be available at the door. Call 591-6400, ext. 380 for further details.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

The air is noticeably cooler at night. The leaves on trees here and there are beginning to take on a slight tint of crimson and yellow. The football season is underway. Clothes racks in department stores are filled with the latest in winter fashions. Apple orchards and cider mills are bustling.

Positive signs that another autumn is upon us.

And with the change in weather, most sportsmen's interests are also changing. While many are looking forward to a successful season and a Super Bowl victory for the Detroit Lions, others are already cleaning rifles and shotguns, and replenishing their arrow supply in anticipation of the assorted hunting seasons to come.

But even though there's a chill in the air and smoke is beginning to rise from chimneys across the state, it's hardly time to put away the rods and reels. In fact, for many species, it's the best time of the year—that is, if you don't mind bundling up against the chilly morning air.

And what's a little discomfort compared to full stringers?

Of course, the annual fall spawning runs of coho and chinook salmon and steelhead trout are just around the corner. Schools are now gathering around the mouths of many northern streams. As soon as the water temperature drops into the mid-50's, they will begin migrating upstream.

The early spawners are most vulnerable to small, flashy spoons and spinners. Little Cleos and Mepps are my favorites in chrome/blue, chrome/orange, all chrome, fluorescent red, copper/red, and chartreuse. The most productive time of day for me is when the sun peeks over the trees and the first rays of the day illuminate my lure in the water.

However, as the water continues to cool and reaches the upper 40's, I switch to spawn sacks and fish slow, generally letting the bait drift naturally downstream in the current.

And by the time that deer season rolls around, a steelhead fisherman has the stream to himself. Everyone else is out traipsing around the woods.

Bass fishermen know that this is the second best time of the year to get a hold of a trophy for the wall. The spring is the best time for a big bass, when fish are full of spawn. Bass are at their heaviest in the spring.

But in the fall bass gorge themselves in preparation for the long, lean winter months that lie ahead.

In early autumn, deep-running crankbaits are your best bet. Lures weighing at least 3/4-ounce are the most productive because bass want to fill themselves up as fast as possible with a minimum amount of effort. They will opt for a mouthful rather than a tidbit.

Use a stop-and-go retrieve. During the summer, bass were able to overtake a fast moving lure, but now that the water temperature is dropping, a bass' metabolism is slowed down. Pausing periodically during the retrieve gives a fish a chance to catch up with your bait.

Chill in the air doesn't end season

As the water temperature continues to nosedive, crankbaits give way to plastic worms and pork rind eels. When the temperature of the air hovers in the low 30's when you arrive at your favorite lake in the early morning hours, a six-or eight-inch plastic worm dragged slowly over the bottom is sometimes all that will trigger a strike. I'm partial to black or purple worms with a firetail.

Finally, before the surface of the lake gets too hard to launch a boat, vertical jigging is your best bet. With your depth-finder, locate a piece of structure in water at least 20 feet deep, toss out a marker and tie on a jigging spoon, a tailspinner, or a half-ounce leadhead jig with a strip of pork rind. Work the lure slowly, like you're fishing through ice. Be especially alert for light strikers.

We anglers in Michigan are fortunate. With all the water that's available so close to home, we never have to put away our fishing tackle...even when the snow flies!

'Body Heat' is work of art

"Body Heat" from Warner Bros. Pictures. Directed and written by Lawrence Kasdan. Produced by Fred T. Gallo. Starring William Hurt, Ted Danson and Kathleen Turner. Rated "R." ****

Oh, what a tangled web "Body Heat" weaves, but oh, what a fabulous flick it is.

Writer/director Lawrence Kasdan ("Empire Strikes Back," "Raiders of the Lost Ark") has combined the elements of James Cain's best pot-boiler, Mickey Spillane's steamy detective melodramas and Norman Jewison's "In the Heat of the Night," to give us the best, and perhaps sexiest, suspense drama of 1981.

"Body Heat" takes place in Miranda Beach, Florida, a sizzling resort town where a struggling attorney, Ned Racine (William Hurt), is stuck with defending low lifes who have little or no chance of getting off easy.

Ned knows he's going nowhere fast, so he transfers his frustrations by engaging in lurid one-night stands with the local female population.

Then one day, Ned runs into a stunning lady named Matty (Kathleen Turner) at a local concert and relentlessly pursues her, despite the fact that she is married. Matty knows how vampy she is, playing her role to the hilt, but knowing fully well that she really desires Ned to satisfy her own insatiable carnal needs.

Once trapped in this web of near graphic passion, Ned and Matty plot to do away with her older, Newcomers give superstar performances.

wealthy husband, Edmund (Richard Crenna). Ah, but Racine doesn't realize that he is being manipulated into a hideous plot to get himself nailed by the local police chief, who happens to be his close friend, for murder and arson.

And that's all I'm going to reveal about the plot-line.

"Body Heat" is lusty, musty, etched with greed and laced with some of the greatest throw away lines in cinematic history. William Hurt, who has been teetering on the brink of superstardom, should emerge from this pic as one of the most sought after actors since Robert Redford. His performance is that riveting.

As for Kathleen Turner—what a super surprise! Her previous work had been confined to "The Doctors" daytime soap opera. How in the world did Hollywood miss this gorgeous actress, who oozes the kind of sensuality which made Lauren Bacall so famous?

If this isn't enough to turn you on, let me also tell you—"Body Heat's" ending is so tantalizing that it actually begs for a steamier sequel. This is a can't miss piece of art which is worthy of Oscar considerations many times over.

DRAMA

Wayne State Theatre opens with wry comedy

Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre opens its 19th season of repertory on September 25 with a revival of last summer's popular "Bedroom Farce," a wry off-beat comedy by British playwright Alan Ayckbourn. The production will be performed in repertory through November 7.

"Bedroom Farce," a play which the author calls "a study of the British in bed, with everything but sex," features a couple whose marriage is on the rocks. Trevor and Susannah inflict their miseries on their nearest and dearest friends, three couples besieged in their own bedrooms by the suffering pair.

Returning cast members from the July production of "Bedroom Farce" are William Neil Dalley and Maria Angela Tirabassi as Trevor and Susannah, Marian Mills as Delia and Elizabeth Gulick Eastman as Kate. New cast members for this production are John Pribyl as Ernest, Peter G. Thomson as Malcolm, Richard Klautsch as Nick and Maureen McDevitt as Jan. Anthony Schmitt directs "Bedroom Farce," with scenery by P. Curtis Vandenberg, costumes by Marilyn Renaud and lighting by Reid Downey.

Tickets are available at the Wayne State University Theater box office at Cass and Hancock in Detroit (577-2972) and at most Detroit area colleges and universities.

RIDE MICHIVAN

MichiVan volunteer vanpool drivers commute to and from work FREE... and the passengers save by sharing the cost of operating the van.

MichiVan is a vanpool program sponsored by the Michigan Department of Transportation. Each qualified volunteer driver is supplied with a comfortable 12 or 15 passenger van, after recruiting 9 or more passengers. In exchange for "chauffeur" passengers to and from work each day, the driver commutes free and gets use of the van during non-working hours.

There are some additional duties for the driver, such as:

- collecting monthly fares
- preparing monthly reports and records
- arranging for van maintenance
- keeping the van clean
- keeping the van full of passengers

As a volunteer driver, you may eliminate the need for a second car. Each month you pay only gasoline costs for your first 200 personal miles. For extended use, you pay a small mileage charge plus gasoline costs. If you have already organized a vanpool or are interested in becoming a vanpool driver* or passenger, call your local ridesharing office or mail in the vanpool interest form below.

Good harvest

Life has been good for Belleville's Jerry Maton (above) who manages to plant a garden each spring and harvest it for the good of Muscular Dystrophy. Maton, of 12175 Beckley Rd., held his seventh annual fruit and vegetable sales recently and raised $1,500 to help fight the crippling disease. The tomatoes, onions, peppers, melons and carrots "went over big," Maton said, "and I hope to do it again next year."

Legislators have tough ones ahead

BY EDWARD E. MAHALAK
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
38TH DISTRICT

There will be some tough decisions to be made in the fall session just started by the Legislature. Some of the priorities include property tax relief, the state's economy, the condition of the state budget, and improvements in Michigan's business climate.

A joint session of the House and Senate was to hear the Governor outline his "economic blueprint for the state," in which he stresses that the fall session should be devoted to the economic climate of Michigan.

Items covered in the "economic blueprint" include property taxes, business and industrial development, a major promotion of Michigan as an industrial and tourist state, and agriculture and its importance to Michigan's economy.

The state budget remains a problem even the budget for the current fiscal year. The money simply is not there.

State revenues have not been as high as originally estimated, the economy has not improved as much as it was hoped it would, and federal budget cuts are likely to have a greater impact on the state than expected.

REP. EDWARD MAHALAK

The current year budget is now some $135 million in deficit. An executive order will be needed to help balance the 1980-81 budget. This will mean still more cuts in state spending for the year. Unfortunately, the most vulnerable for the cuts are education and local government revenue sharing.

These budget cuts can go just so far, and are not likely to cover all the deficit.

One way to cover at least some of the difference would be to borrow money from a special fund for the acquisition of recreation land. The fund is built by state gas and oil royalties. The loan from the fund would have to be authorized by the Legislature. It is opposed by conservation groups. The state has already been forced to twice borrow from the fund.

A budget-cutting executive order would have to be approved by those of us on the House and Senate Appropriations Committees.

Federal budget cuts will mean less federal dollars for Michigan and other states.

The states were warned recently that they will have to shoulder another $30 billion in federal budget cuts during the upcoming fiscal year.

The development of a property tax relief plan is one of the top priorities of the fall session. Voter rejection last spring of Proposal A left the Legislature with the task of seeking a new approach to easing the burden of rising property taxes.

There have been several property tax cut plans advanced. In addition, a special task force appointed by the Speaker of the House has been working through the summer trying to prepare a property tax relief program.

The tax cuts will have to be realistic and responsible. Too heavy a cut would force government to trim or eliminate vital public services.

There will be an effort this fall to improve the state's business climate, which is vital to economic recovery. There will be a number of proposals on this in the fall session.

Unemployment and workers' compensation costs have been a major complaint of business and industry in Michigan. Even though reforms were made in both by the Legislature last year, there are those who feel that more must be done to make Michigan a more favorable place to do business.

Grape jam, grape butter

The lunchbox season is practically upon us, and fresh corn muffins spread with homemade Spiced Grape Butter will provide a welcome treat for young and old alike. Grapes are in peak supply now, and it is the perfect time to make the most of this luscious fruit.

Fully ripe Concord grapes are prepared, spices are stirred in and liquid fruit pectin is added. There's no cooking involved, so this recipe is appealing to the novice as well as to the experienced jam and jelly maker. If it is to be used within two or three weeks, it may be stored in the refrigerator. Otherwise, it will keep in the freezer for at least six months.

Another uncooked jelly is Grape Burgundy Jelly which uses powdered fruit pectin. It captures the full flavor of the Concord grape, and is another way of extending the enjoyment of the season's bounty.

Spiced Grape Butter

2 cups prepared fruit (about 2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes)
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
4 cups (1½ lb.) sugar
1 pouch Certo fruit pectin
First prepare the fruit. Thoroughly crush about 2 pounds Concord grapes. Force crushed fruit through a food mill or press through a sieve. Measure 2 cups into large bowl or pan. Stir in spices.
Then make the butter. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Stir fruit pectin into fruit. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes about 4¾ cups or about 6 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Grape Burgundy Jelly

2¾ cups prepared juice (about 2½ lb. fully ripe Concord grapes)
¼ cup Burgundy wine
5¾ cups (2½ lb.) sugar
¾ cup water
1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin
First prepare the juice. Thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 2½ pounds Concord grapes. Place crushed fruit in jelly cloth or bag and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently. Measure 2¾ cups into large bowl or pan. Add wine.
Then make the jelly. Thoroughly mix sugar into juice; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into the juice. Continue stirring 3 minutes. A few sugar crystals will remain.) Quickly pour into scalded containers. Cover at once with lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes about 6 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Note: For ease in extracting juice, heat grapes slightly; then crush, using a potato masher or food mill.

Booster Club needs help!

The Belleville Booster Club is in need of the community's help in preparing for its flea market on Oct. 3. New or used household furnishings, dishes, toys, books, games, tools, etc. with good resale value are needed to make the sale a success. But the committee requests that donations be in good, clean condition — no junk, please!

Thus far an old trunk, glassware, a small stereo, projector, yard roller, trash compactor, Fischer-Price toys, clothing, games, and paperbacks (many of them brand new) are on the list of "for sale" items.

Coffee and cookies will also be sold during the 9 to 9 sale which is slated for the old Tag Store in the Lakewood Shopping Mall.

Donations are being accepted at 46141 Harris Road or will be picked up on a call made to 697-7993.

All proceeds will benefit the Belleville High School athletic program.

potpourri

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

Alas, that once-bountiful, lush, productive vegetable garden is almost a thing-past; another summer's offering about to make its swan song. Admittedly, there ARE still those pitiful, smallish, hanger-on tomatoes adding a touch of color to the straggly, withering foliage... and a few cucumbers and zucchini continue to reveal themselves from beneath their protective vines... but the overall view is one of sad, picked-over neglect — hasbeensville.

The acorn, spaghetti and buttercup squash, the few remaining banana peppers which'd surprised us no end since they'd been clearly labeled "green bell" and the carrots yet to be dug all look pretty bedraggled without the perky greenery that framed them such a short time ago. Even the late planting of green beans has a less spritely appearance than its spring cousins.

I think what I'm getting at is — it's not only the garden that's had it, it's "Mr. McGregor's" (BG's) wife that's had it! Each time I'd haul in those tomatoes (the last bushels via the golf cart—too late ve git schmart!) I'd tell myself, "This is it! I'm NOT going to make anymore juice!" But, with each visit to said veggie plot, I'd shudder just thinking about the awful waste were I NOT to use them.

What's so frustrating about "putting up" the harvest is that YOU'RE never ready when IT is; the timing is usually rotten! But at least this year we've not had those gawdawful sweltering, muggy days with which to contend — I've nary a complaint about having had to can on too hot a day. THIS summer was a perfect one!

Despite the fact I AM weary of the tomato-tomato juice versus bread and butter-candied sweets action, it is SUCH a pleasure to walk down those basement stairs and behold those quarts, pints and half pints holding the result of picking, scrubbing, scalding, peeling, grinding, chopping, soaking, draining, boiling, sterilizing and bottling.

And, though my supply is meager by comparison, I can well imagine the pride those pioneer women felt as they tucked each precious bit of fruit and vegetable away for the hard, cold winter.

I also wondered what their reaction would be to my scant supply? Or how they'd feel at seeing the bounty in my freezer — the broccoli, beans, peppers, corn, coleslaw — vegetables whose longevity they, too, might have prolonged had they known the magic of freezing.

But mostly I can look ahead to the time when only shipped-in produce is available; when I can pick out a package of this or a container or jar of that with its oh-so-fresh flavor. THAT'S when the boil, boil, toil and trouble all becomes well worth the few hours absence from the golf course.

THERE'S A NEW private eye (and let's get with the vernacular — "shamus") on the fictional reading scene — a most entertaining fella created by that very funny man, Leo Rosten.

In Sidney (Silky) Pincus, half of the firm of Watson and Holmes (which should indicate the type of humor you're going to experience in this one), the author gives us a very witty, punful whodunit-solver. For Silky is the Yiddish answer to the Maltese Falcon, a Sherlock Holmes with a bagel.

And in "King Silky" we find a remarkable set of characters including a self-fashioned latter-day Howard Hughes and his entourage — faithful (?) retainers all out to get a quick piece of the action (his millions.) Smooth-talking Roger O. Settegard, his Georgian-born lawyer whose charm masks a Machiavellian brain; his cold and calculating paramour, Regina Cortland; Tony Quattrocino (Tony Quattro), a crime don reminiscent of the Godfather; Hershel Tabachnik, Silky's nephew and bumbling aide de camp, and Alison Sherrington, the "older woman" and romantic interest, are but a few in the colorful cast created by Rosten.

The unusual and interesting part of this novel lies in the reality of its grammar (street talk) which conveys the actual flavor of the remarkable, fascinating line-up from the neighborhoods of New York City. You'll find a host of Yiddish words (from the Bronx and old East Side) which, Rosten explains in his preface, he uses because he just doesn't know English words which give you the same vivid smell.

But don't you worry, you'll find every strange word (and many you've already heard, read and used yourself) explained in the glossary which brings this funny, funny (but rather violent) work to its conclusion. And we hope "Silky" will be back on the scene with even more of his sleuthing.

IF YOU WERE to walk into my family room today (it's now officially autumn, don't forget) you'd be somewhat taken aback, no doubt, at seeing (just beyond the basket of potted mums) a vaseful of pussywillows — a harbinger of springtime yet!

And, yes, they're the real McCoy! Because they were so beautifully plump and still fresh way after they should have been cast out, I decided to see just HOW long they'd maintain that facade.

And, voila!, here 'tis, approaching October, and I still have April-fresh pussywillows... just a few tufts missing since our grandbaby thinks they're quite the fascinating thing to "pick" whenever he visits.

The secret in their long life, I'm sure, lies in the fact they were never put in water. Sent to me as a gift, the presenter suggested I NOT place them in water since that would cause them to enlarge and create that awful yellowy matter which comes "with age" to pussywillows.

Like those poinsettias which linger and linger after the Yule season, though, — one of these days they're just gonna HAVE to go. (But when?)

IN THESE RATHER depressing, recessionary times when everyone is thinking twice or thrice about purchasing anything other than the vital have-to's, it's nice to know there are spots where one can still get a bargain.

But where to find them, you might be asking? We all know of some places — for clothing, mainly — but there are also outlets, clearance centers, thrift stores, closeout and sample centers which offer everything from underwear to glassware.

And all the info is contained in a handy softback booklet, "The Factory Outlet Shopping Guide", put out by Jean Bird. And you'll be interested in the one for Ohio-Michigan which sells for $3.95. This just might make a good Christmas gift, come to think of it, and it can be ordered from F.O.S.G. Publications, Box 239 AM, Oradell, N.J., 07649. MR. AND MRS. KENNETH K. HAENDEL

Kenneth K. Haendel, Melanie Lou Mills repeat nuptial vows

Ball Road Tabernacle in Romulus was the setting September 5 for the ceremony which joined Melanie Lou Mills and Kenneth Karl Haendel in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Evelyn O' Nan presided at the one thirty nuptials attended by some 74 relatives and friends including parents of the young couple: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford O. Mills of 9419 Chamberlain Dr., Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Gearhard G. Haendel of 30505 Ecorse Rd., Romulus.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in an ivory gown designed with an oval neckline, full sleeves and a satin-sashed waistline.

Her 3-tiered veil of silk illusion drifted to shoulder length from a little beaded cap while a bouquet of carnations, roses and baby's breath completed her bridal ensemble.

As her friend's only attendant, Diane Kautz donned a blue, floor-length gown accented with ruffles and carried an arrangement of blue and white carnations.

Kevin Haendel was his brother's best man and Samuel Moffit and Dave Bowen served as ushers.

For the occasion, Mrs. Mills chose a mauve frock and Mrs. Haendel, the bridegroom's mother, selected a wine-colored suit. Both were honored with peach-colored corsages.

The wedding reception, held at the home of the bride's parents, included a buffet dinner served by Mrs. Helen Mitchell, Mrs. Judy Johnson and Gary Lee.

Since returning from a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the newlyweds have been living in Romulus.

Currently employed at Dion Nursing Home in Canton, the new Mrs. Haendel graduated from Romulus High School in 1981 and is attending Wayne County Community College as a child psychology major.

Her husband, a 1979 Romulus High School alumnus, is employed by S&E Lawn Mower Service in Romulus.

Fall storytime set at library

Plans have been set for the Belleville Library's fall story time. This program will provide preschoolers with an opportunity to hear good books, read and learn related songs and finger plays.

Registration for children 3-5 years old, who are residents of Belleville, Van Buren Township or Sumpter Township, will be held Sept. 21 through 28 at the library, 167 Fourth Street. Parents, who may register their children in person or by phoning 699-3291, are expected to remain in the library for the duration of the program.

Story time will be every Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. starting Sept. 29. There will be five sessions ending with a Halloween party on Oct. 27.

Past Matrons meeting held at local church

The first meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, after the summer recess, was held at the First United Methodist Church Sept. 3, with Past Matron, Emma Moore of Wayne, hostess.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon, served by several members of the church, were 18 members and one guest, Florence McKelvey, worthy Matron of the Chapter.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Roberta Pond, with Chaplain, Mae Fielder, having devotions. Plans were discussed for the annual "Family Night" to be held in November after which lucky numbers were drawn by Wilma Tator and Eva Lupher for prizes.

The October hostess will be Roberta Pond, the meeting again being held at the Church.

Wedding prompts trip to Charlotte

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

On Sunday, Sept. 13, Darryl H. Raymond Sr. accompanied his son, Darryl H. Jr. and wife Bernice, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Harold Campbell, to Charlotte where they attended a reception honoring the former's niece and husband, Dorothy and Raymond Shaffer of Vermontville, on their 40th wedding anniversary.

Host and hostess for the occasion were the honored couple's daughter and husband, Sue and Gary DeCraft. Mrs. Shaffer is the daughter of Darryl's late brother, Harley, and Emily Raymond of Bellevue.

Enroute home they stopped to visit Emily who was unable to attend the reception because of illness.

Mrs. Mary Fry of Oscoda was a weekend guest of her son and wife, Charles and Gladys Fry of Liberty Street.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lupher were the latter's relatives from Indiana: brothers and their wives, Foster and Mary Logan of Lakeville and Don and Mabel Logan of Osceola; and a sister, Aleta Hoflanger of South Bend. A nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Huntsinger and daughter from Bell Buckle, Tenn. were also guests.

Lance Jacobs of Cincinnati, Ohio spent a couple of days last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Henry Sager.

Friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Mabry of Corning, Ark. were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Striewski of Cheney, Kan. were Tuesday guests of the former's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deering.

A former East Huron River Drive resident, Mrs. Eleanor Kouba of St. Petersburg, Fla., has been a guest of her sister, Mrs. William Oakley of Romulus, and other relatives and friends in the Belleville-Romulus community the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey were among relatives and friends who attended the wedding of the former's grand-nephew, Robert Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fleming of Belleville, and Sharan Veith of Dearborn Heights on Sept. 11 at St. Sebastian Catholic Church in Dearborn Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Huntsinger and daughter from Bell Buckle, Tenn. were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Graham.

Mrs. Hildur Waters of Marine, Minn., arrived last Wednesday to spend some time with her daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph of Edgar Street and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler of Milan, and other relatives in the area.

Others who accompanied her on the motor trip were Mrs. Waters' sisters, Mrs. Ruth Berglaund of Marine and Mrs. Vera Bloom of Forest Lake and her daughters, Mrs. Suzanne Schlager of Forest Lake and Mrs. Sharan Kerri of Taylor Falls, Minn.

Members of the Lloyd Orr family gathered at their home on Crowley Street Sunday, Sept. 13, for a picnic dinner and social time. Present were members of the Orr families from Lincoln Park and Southgate; Larry, Diane and Laura Orr of Flint, and Lynn Orr of Oberlin, Ohio.

Mrs. Betty Taylor of East Huron River Drive underwent major surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Sept. 11, and is doing nicely and expects to be released shortly.

er Drive underwent major surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Sept. 11, and is doing nicely and expects to be released shortly.

Mrs. Dorothy Kellas was among the 18 members of the Strand-Weeks Past Matrons and Past Patrons Club who met for dinner Sept. 13 at the home of Bill and Shirley Hietala in Detroit.

Altar plans set

The engagement and approaching marriage of Kathleen A. Bondy and William D. Gallaway is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick F. Bondy of 149 Lavender St., Monroe, parents of the bride-elect. A 1972 alumna of St. Mary Academy in Monroe, Miss Bondy attended Monroe County Community College and is now working as an executive secretary at La-Z-Boy Chair Company in Monroe. The son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Gallaway of 41040 Willow Rd., New Boston, the prospective bridegroom graduated from Huron High School in 1970, Monroe County Community College in 1972 and Lake Superior State College at Sault Ste. Marie in 1974. He is currently working as an electronics engineer for Environmental Research Institute of Michigan in Ann Arbor. St. Michael's Church in Monroe has been reserved for the young couple's October altar date.

130 Traskos descendants gather for first reunion

The first reunion of the Traskos family was held Sunday, Sept. 13, at Van Buren Park with 130 members present from Detroit, Dearborn, Mount Clemens, Farmington Hills, Milford, Ann Arbor, Coldwater and Belleville.

The oldest member present was Valeryn Traskos, 75, from Dearborn and youngest were two 5-year-old boys, Scott Marshall, son of Pat and Debbie Traskos Marshall of Belleville, and Kirk Traskos, son of Jerry and Janet Traskos of Dearborn.

All are descendants of four Traskos brothers, Sylvester, Frank, Lawrence, and Stanley who emigrated from Poland to the United States at the turn of the century and settled in the Detroit-Belleville-Sumpter area.

LEG PAINS No Longer A Problem With Chiropractic Care

From the cradle to the grave, the legs play an interesting and important part in the daily life of the individual. For the infant, the legs are something to wave in the air and admire. They are playthings, and they attract the eye of fond grandparents as they wave in the air above the tiny body. Later, the legs become a means of locomotion . . . stumbling and tottering steps become running and leaping as time passes. Legs are for walking, running, jumping, pedaling a bicycle, swimming and climbing in youth. They are mighty important assets to childhood. In later years, legs become tools, almost a necessity in the routine of living and making a living. They do a tremendous job of supporting the weight of the human body, of moving that human body from place to place. They are called upon to support the body, to bend, to stoop, to stretch and to perform many duties.

"After The Full Treatment, My Problem Improved With Every Treatment Thereafter."

I No Longer Could Play Golf

CHARLES H. STEPHENS

"I had pain in my lower back and leg that bothered me so much; I could not stand more than 2 or 3 minutes in one spot, I had to sit down. I no longer could play golf. Walking was also painful. After sitting, I had trouble straightening up. After the full treatment; my problem improved with every treatment thereafter."

Belleville is playing like a grid champ

Bentley a breather? No way

Looking and playing like a champ at Allen Park, Coach Mike Colletta and Belleville High's Tigers will be at home Friday night to host Livonia Bentley for their second Suburban 8 Conference and third game of the young campaign.

And if anyone in these parts think Bentley (1-1) is a breather for the high-flying Tigers, Colletta is quick to warn "that Bentley is an extremely improved ball club, while we definitely have a lot of room for improvement."

"No way can we underestimate them," Colletta continued. "Although they lost to Edsel Ford (16-0), the score is deceptive. Bentley gave them one heck of a game. We will have to be ready or we're in trouble."

In the meantime, the Tigers are enjoying their second straight and fifth consecutive (they won their last three a year ago) victory at the expense of conference rival, Allen Park. While the Tiger defense shut out the Jaguars, Keith Gates had an excellent evening scoring two touchdowns and rushing for 184 yards in 28 tries.

Belleville quarterback Sam Villa again put on a show as he hit on 5 of 8 aerials for 39 yards and hooked up with Kevin Sauderson on a 11-yard scoring pass.

"I felt our defense played an excellent game," Colletta offered, "but our offense was sporadic and we committed four fumbles."

Gates gave the Tigers the lead early in the first quarter when he scored from 4-yards out, then Sauderson converted on a two-point, making it 8-0. It took Villa 14 plays and 75 yards to drive his team into the Jaguar endzone with the

Glenn unleashes grid power

By ERIC GEARNS

John Glenn football coach explained the whole thing very easily. "It was just one of those nights when everything we did was right."

Everything must have gone perfect to account for the Rockets and coach Chuck Gordon whose club thrashed a highly regarded Northville, 37-7.

The Rockets accomplished their outstanding performance with the use of two often forgotten parts of the game, kicking and field position.

Glenn amassed a total of 253 yards total offense, with 163 yards rushing, while quarterback Rick Wilson was good on five of seven pass attempts for 90 yards and two touchdowns.

The Rockets opened the scoring in the first quarter on a six-yard TD toss from Wilson to Brian Brassel, the try for two points was stopped and Glenn led 6-0.

Northville got its only lead of the game early in the second stanza when quarterback Tim McLaughlin scampered four yards into the endzone, the successful kick after gave the Mustangs a brief 7-6 lead.

The Rockets got the lead right back, however, as Todd Jennings answered with a four yard run of his own and Glenn led 12-7.

Gordon's charges then began the rout with a 62 yard punt return by Amado Varona to the Northville 10 yard line. Wilson completed the job with a 10 yard scoring strike to Varona. Jennings kick for the point after gave the Rockets a comfortable 19-7 halftime bulge.

Romulus wastes Holifield's record, bows to East in OT

Coach Don Foley and his Romulus Eagles woke up Saturday morning and found out that they worked overtime the night before and were paid off by Garden City East with a frustrating 33-27 defeat.

Winter came early for the Eagles who went cold in the extra period after leading Coach Gary Humphrey's Panthers most of the night. It was Romulus' second successive setback. They now must look forward to meeting a winless Ann Arbor Huron club that is "as hungry as we are for victory" as Foley described the pending confrontation.

"We're going to get our first look at the wishbone," Foley pointed out, "and, at a team that also is winless in their first couple of starts. They are hungry, but they are going to have to be hungrier than we are."

Romulus will be playing under the lights on its home field for the first time in two decades. The Eagles are scheduled to host the Ann Arbor gridders at Romulus Junior High School (on Wick Rd.) where newly-installed lights will enable the home crowd to watch a night game.

"No one around here can recall the last time a Romulus varsity team played under the lights at home," Foley noted. "We're expecting an excellent turnout. In fact, we have been getting larger than usual crowds at the games."

Romulus wasted a record-setting performance by its senior fullback-tailback, John Holifield who rushed for 272 of the Eagles' 291 yards and accounted for three of the Eagles' four touchdowns on runs of 94 yards, 58 yards and 84 yards.

Romulus' only other score came in the fourth quarter when John Rupert tallied from the 25 after he had set the TD up with an interception.

Matt Sullivan kicked three of four point-after.

The Eagles scored first, getting on the board on their second possession when Holifield lunged through the center of the line and broke loose for a 94-yard scoring run. Sullivan then added the extra point, lifting the visitors to a 7-0 lead.

East tied the game in the second stanza when quarterback Tracy Belcher teamed up with Greg Roe on a fourth-down, 16-yard screen pass that wound up in the end zone.

However, before intermission, Holifield again jolted the Panthers with his second up-the-middle TD run, this one covering 84-yards.

Romulus increased its margin to 20-7 early in the third quarter as Holifield again slipped through, this time for a 50-yard touchdown jaunt that climaxed a three-play 79-yard drive.

But East retaliated by cutting into the Romulus margin with two third period scores and in the fourth quarter the two non-conference rivals exchanged touchdowns. Rupert's interception — ran back to the Panther six-yard line where the Eagles retraced their steps to the 35 due to a clip — set up the tying touchdown.

With the score deadlocked at 27-all at the end of four periods, the two rivals played the overtime which ended when Roe scored on a three-yard run.

Despite the five East TDs, Romulus received an outstanding effort on defense from the Eddings brothers — Dale, a linebacker who counted seven solos and five assists, and from Eddy, an end, who recovered a fumble, had six unassisted and four assisted tackles. Jim Barnes, a noseman, came up with two sacks of the quarterback, also had five solos.

Ferris gets serves of 3 area stars

Second-year coach Kathy DeBoer has taken on the task of rebuilding Ferris State's women's volleyball team with three top-notch area players.

The three include Ann Kolnitys, ex-Wayne Memorial star who is a senior that transferred to Ferris from Indiana Tech; returning letter-winner and sophomore Sue Kutko, a Westlander who graduated from Livonia Franklin, and Linda Mix, from Livonia Churchill.

Mix was named to the first-team National Junior College Athletic Association all-American squad a year ago, while Kutko, after displaying consistent offensive punch on the volleyball court last year, has been particularly effective as a setter.

More than 100 harriers representing 17 high school teams took part in the invitational held Saturday at the community college facility.

Wayne compiled 68 points on the strength of a third place finish by Chris Strome whose teammates Keith Kiesznowski, Gary Vallance, Kevin Allen, Matt Hathorne and Ken Lamb chipped in ninth, 15th, 17th, and 59th, respectively.

Glenn garnered 100 points with its first runner, Tom Gibson leading teammate Pete Stephens across the finish line with fifth and sixth place efforts. Then, the Westlanders received a 13th from Ray Macika while Randy Frank was 35th

Winless, injury-riddled Wayne awaits undefeated Fordson

By ERIC GEARNS
Special Writer

If the Fordson Tractors think they are going to have an easy touch Friday night when they invade Wayne, they had better get that notion out of their head.

While Wayne lost its second straight game last Friday to Taylor Center 21-14, the Zebras did prove that there is no quit in Coach Floyd Cater's young team.

Wayne spotted the Rams a 21-0 half-time lead and came back to within one score of tying with a determined effort in the second half before succumbing in its Great Lakes 8 Conference football opener.

Wayne's downfall came because of its inability in the first half to stop the two pronged running attack of Taylor's Dan Rose and Cal Hawkins who rushed for a combined total of 314 yards (171 for Rose and 143 for Hawkins.) Taylor's total rushing offense was only three yards more at 317 yards.

Taylor took its big bulge in at half-time, on two TD runs by Rose of four yards and 15 yards, and a 19 yard return of a bad Zebra pitch by Ram defensive end Darryl Hall.

The Zebras got back in the ball game with a third quarter TD on a one-yard plunge by Shawn Boyer, and a 66 yard romp by Boyer with 5:10 remaining in the final period.

However, Rose and Hawkins began their ball control act again, and ran out the remaining time on the clock to salt away their second win against no defeats.

Boyer was outstanding for the Zebras, piling up 124 of the team's 185 yards rushing. The junior running back was also outstanding in a blocking roll for the Zebras.

Fordson brings a 2-0 record to Wayne this Friday, but the state-ranked Tractors don't scare Carter.

"Certainly we know we are going to have to play our best Friday night and eliminate our mistakes, but these kids are not going to be intimidated by them," said Carter.

The Zebras will be seeking to avenge a 15-0 defeat they suffered last year, their only loss of the season. "Fordson is always a well coached team, and they are always tough, but if we put together four good quarters of football we can stay with them. We are going to need a good effort from everyone and a couple of breaks, but we'll be ready," explained Carter.

The Zebra's will enter the game with two key players missing. Both Hal Gorton, a senior defensive and offensive end, and Jamie Nesbitt, a senior defensive tackle and offensive guard, sustained injuries in the Taylor game which will sideline them for two to three weeks.

Conference opener. Bielis and Gavin were instrumental in the Chargers' 16-14 victory over the visitors and that triumph will allow the Chargers to enter conference battle with a 1-1 record. Kaestner will face Farmington Harrison in their league debut.

Franklin's back-up QB gets job done

Livonia Franklin needed a victory in the worst way.

And Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots didn't think that its cross-town rival, Stevenson, would be in an obliging mood. Thank goodness they were wrong.

Franklin struck for two first half scores and managed to hold off the Spartans to win a 14-6 victory and snap out of its doldrums caused by the loss of first string quarterback Chris Panzl to an opening day injury.

The Patriots' back-up QB, Rick Popp, got the job done.

In Panzl's place, Vigna inserted the 5-10, 206-pound junior Popp who scored one touchdown and passed to Bob Stebbins for the other. Popp also connected on 3 of 7 passes for 33 yards and rushed for 40 yards on 15 carries.

"I was very encouraged by the play of Popp," said Vigna whose club evened up its non-conference record to 1-1 and will open Northwest Conference play at home Saturday against North Farmington. "We played a good defensive game as well. We held them to 80-yard rushing, however, we didn't do much offensively after the first half. We only had three first downs in the last two quarters."

Franklin got on the scoreboard late in the initial quarter after Eric Cullin picked off a pass and was stopped on his own 38-yard line. It took Popp eight plays and an 8-yard aerial to Stebbins to break the ice.

Richard Wood then converted his first of two extra points.

Franklin scored its insurance TD in the second quarter with 5:06 left before the intermission. Popp culminated a 9-play, 65-yard drive with a 5-yard touchdown run on an option play.

Unable to drum up any offense the second half, Franklin managed to survive thanks to its defense which featured some hard-hits by Cullin and Ray Smith and included a pair of interceptions by cornerback Mike Minielly.

Vigna also attributed the strong defensive showing to his "front-four" — Mike Duff, Dallas Brooks, Stebbins and Dean Langley.

No surprises at Schoolcraft Invitational

Wayne runners capture coveted cross country crown

Just as Westland John Glenn coach Jerry Szukaitis predicted, the 1981 Schoolcraft College Invitational Cross Country meet turned out to be a duel between neighboring rivals Glenn and Wayne Memorial.

But Wayne, for the second time in the 17 year history of the prestigious meet, won the title.

"Wayne was superb," Szukaitis said, "and we were good. It was an excellent meet."

Wayne mentor Brian Watson also had praise for his team and said, "that Glenn kept us worried right down to the finish."

and Paul Davis and Dan Rousch rounded out the scoring in 41st and 42nd places.

Sandwiched between Glenn and its Northwest Suburban Conference rival, Livonia Franklin was third-place finishing Redford Union (109). Franklin was fourth with 123 and the next six teams included: Northville (155), North Farmington (165), South Lyon (168), Livonia Churchill (190), Bishop Borgess (223), and Garden City West (266).

Plymouth Salem was 13th in a field of 17, picking up 325 points.

In the race for individual honors, Northville's senior runner, Clark

Couyamjian, outdistanced Livonia Stevenson's Ken Dubois to the wire, winning the 3-mile classic in 16:01. Dubois was clocked in 16:16, followed by Wayne's Strome who was 16:32.

Livonia Franklin had two runners in the top 10 as Mike White claimed fourth with a 16:33 effort and mate Chris Zimmer turned in with a 16:46.

Glenn placed two of its runners on the All-Invitational Team as Gibson and Stephens along with John Trash of Redford Union, who finished seventh, followed by Zimmer (Franklin), Kiesznowski (Wayne Memorial), and Scotty Dayton of Northville round out the all-invitational elite club.

The last hurrah

With the demise of the Western Six, Livonia Churchill will be looking at a newly-formed, two-division yet-to-be named conference a year from now. However, Churchill's Ken Kaestner (center), flanked by his players, would like nothing better than to bid the old conference adieu by capturing the final championship. And he'll know just where he stands — or sits — in that title race after Friday night. On Friday, the Chargers will host Farmington Harrison, one of the title hopefuls.

Leppen is street stocks king

Flat Rock crowns its champs

The Automobile Racing Club of America (ARCA) is proud to announce the Flat Rock Speedway track champions for 1981. They are Joy Fair (Late Models), Chuck Hall (Figure 8's), and Dan Leppen (Street Stocks).

The veteran Fair claimed yet another track crown to his endless string. Joy won five features at Flat Rock this season, including the Mid-Season and Season Championship 50 lap feature events. Also, 1980 track champ Dick Barker (5).

Glenn harriers breeze

Westland John Glenn runners served notice with a 20-38 victory over Garden City East that they have designs on the Northwest Suburban Conference track crown this season.

Coach Jerry Szukiatis's harriers won their league opener by sweeping the second through fifth places after East's Rob Phillips cross the finish line first for the victory. Phillips's winning time was 16:16.

Close on Phillips's heels were Westlanders Tom Gibson (a6:27), Paul Davis, Pete Stephens, Ray Macika and Dan Roush. Glenn's John Baran wound up eighth.

Glenn will host Thurston on Thursday for its next conference test.

Hall had eight wins, with Earley getting two wins, and Bob Studt posting five wins.

Consistency was the formula for Dan Leppen as he claimed his first-ever track crown in the Street Stock division.

Leppen didn't take the point lead until late in June, but his steady driving earned him the 1981 Street Stock title at Flat Rock. The very competitive division saw Leppen take two wins, as did Rick Bundon. Runner-up Kevin Pelkey finished strong late in the season and had 6 wins, including the last 4 in a row. Kevin just edged out Leppen by 3 feet to win the Season Championship main event. John Wyman (3), Steve Cronenwett (1), and Bob Studt (1) also were winners.

ARCA drivers, owners, mechanics, and officials will be honored at the Flat Rock Speedway banquet on November 7 at Hickory Park in Temperance.

nings accounting for nine more points on a two yard run and a 26 yard field goal. Wilson passed to Stan Grieb for a two point conversion on the Jennings TD, and Glenn held a commanding 30-7 lead.

Backup quarterback Chris Merandi completed the scoring explosion for the Westlanders with a one yard quarterback sneak in the fourth quarter and Jennings added his 20th point of the evening with the successful point after.

Glenn would appear to be headed for another easy victory this Friday night when they entertain Redford Thurston High School.

Thurston, under second year coach Mark LaPointe lost its opener to Northville 26-0, and then came back to defeat a very poor Oak Park team. On paper Glenn would apparently have no worries.

But Gordon doesn't agree. "You don't play football games on paper. LaPointe is an excellent coach who always seems to have his team ready. We can't afford to look past this game. We are going to give Thurston all the respect they are entitled to," said the Rocket Mentor.

Gordon isn't ready to accept the league championship favorites roles yet either. Despite two impressive wins, the Glenn coach warns against overconfidence.

"This season has a long way to go. There are several good teams in our league, and the title doesn't belong to anyone until they win it," said Gordon.

Jones, Slade win golf championship

Frank Jones and Larry Slade took all six points from Paul Verbanac and Tom Wlodarczyk to win Canton Recreation Men's Fox Hills Country Club Golf League.

Jones posted a 41 and Slade a 42 in the match. The winners got to the championship match by beating the Division B Playoffs from Harry Walkley and Will Jacobs 4 to 1. Paul and Tom won Division A Playoffs 5 to 0 against Lloyd Dible and John Thomason.

Despite the fact that Glenn must tangle with league champs North Farmington, next week, the Rockets won't be looking ahead. "You have to play one game at a time, and right now the job is to beat Thurston."

Wayne licks its wounds

Both players are keys to the defensive line and their early injuries were a factor in Wayne's inability to stop the Taylor running game.

The loss of the two starters will place extra pressure on inside linebacker Mark Sanford, who was singled out for praise by Carter in the Taylor game. "We will be making some adjustments on defense for Dordson, and showing them some things that they haven't seen us do," promised Carter.

The Fordson game will be Wayne's first appearance at home, and will mark the beginning of five straight very difficult contests.

Following the Tractors, Wayne must face Lincoln Park, Monroe, Wayandotte, and Edsel Ford, in what must be considered one of the toughest schedules in the state. The Fordson game will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday night.

The Wayne Junior Varsity Zebras notched their first win under new coach Kevin Wilson last Thursday as they defeated Taylor Fordson 13-0. The jayvees will travel to Fordson Thursday for a 4 p.m. matchup.

Over 30 begins 8th year of hockey

Curtains are going up on the eighth season for the Over 30 Wayne-Westland Hockey League.

The league consists of 140 players — 10 teams with 14 players per team. Twenty-two games make up the schedule, excluding the playoffs.

Regular season play begins Sunday, October 4, and runs through March of 1982. All games are played Sunday evenings in the Westland Rink (Wildwood and Hunter) at 7:30, 9 and 10:30 p.m. and in the Wayne Rink (Howe and Annapolis) at 8:30 and 10 p.m.

There is no admission charge.

NHL rules apply, with the exception of checking and slap-shots, which are not allowed.

Gary Duplessis, former All-Area gridder from Wayne Memorial, has broken into the line-up as a middle guard on Albion College's varsity football squad. A 5-8, 167-pound sophomore, Duplessis, has shown that he can handle the tough job on defense, according to head coach Frank Joranko, who is heading into his ninth year at the helm of the club.

Glenn whips Willow Run in opener Gow sets freestyle record

With Robina Gow turning in a record-shattering performance, Westland John Glenn launched the 1981 girls' swimming meet season with a lopsided 103-68 victory over out-of-conference rivals, Willow Run, last week.

Miss Gow chalked up a first, one of seven garnered by the Rockets, when she was clocked in 59.9 for the 100-yard freestyle. The effort was also a new school mark.

senior quarterback picking the defenses to shreds with some pinpoint passes to Rod Fisher. Gates also rushed for 35 of the 75 yards.

The Tigers scored an insurance TD in the second half when an Allen Park snap sailed over the punter's head and the Tigers took over on the enemy 26. Four plays later, Villa handed off to Gates who drove in from the one. Villa then booted his first of two extra points.

Saunders rounded out the scoring when he capped a 12-play, 81-yard drive with a TD pass reception from Villa.

Gates received some excellent blocking from mates Jim Fedlack, a center, tackle Ron Rich and Rod Laframboise. Saunders and Bubba Smith contributed more than their share on defense where the Tigers were held together by the play of Julius Roberson and Steve Donaldson.

Belleville had 18 first downs to Allen Park's eight and rushed for 273 yards to AP's 117. The Jaguars picked up 37 yards in their air game as compared to the Tigers' 39. The Tigers fumbled four times but managed to retain possession while their opposition dropped the ball twice and recovered both times.

R.U. girls best at Schoolcraft

With Junior Cathy Koski setting the pace, Redford Union dominated the fourth-running of the Schoolcraft College High School Girls' Cross Country Invitational.

Miss Koski toured the course in 19:23 to lead R.U. for an overwhelming victory, beating its closest rival, Ladywood, by 50 points. Redford runners piled up 27 points as compared to Ladywood's 77.

Livonia Churchill chalked up 92, good for third place, followed by Livonia Stevenson (95), Bishop Borgess (124), Plymouth Salem (176), Northville (181), Livonia Franklin (182) and Novi (234).

The all-Invitational team also included: Jennifer Rioux (Ladywood), Nancy Adams (Redford Union), Angie Mogiolski (Redford Union), Charon

Mellas (Garden City), Julie Recia (Churchill), Kaul Laird (Redford Union), Ruth Sample (Salem), Colleen Lee (Ladywood), and Lisa Bagdady (Ladywood).

Franklin faces North

Offensively, Tom Lucas accounted for 61 of the Patriots' total 138 yards rushing on 18 tries and Minielly had seven chances for 32 yards.

North Farmington will invade Franklin on Saturday, bringing with it a 2-0 record.

"They're always tough," Vigna warned, "and if we can generate some consistency on offense, I feel we will give them a battle."

Grid Predictions

By "The Football Gypsy"
ANP Special Prognosticator

The football gypsy has pitched his tent outside the ANP Sports department in an attempt to enlighten our staff on the outcome of this week's prep football games.

While the gypsy doesn't pretend to be perfect, he is under contract to Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder of Television fame. Here are the gypsy's selections for this weekend:

LIVONIA BENTLEY AT BELLEVILLE — Belleville has been extremely impressive in both outings thus far, while Bentley was lucky to win the first and soundly beaten in the second. Pick — Belleville by 10.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL AT NEW BOSTON HURON — The gypsy foresees a real battle against two improving teams. Pick — Central by 1.

THURSTON AT JOHN GLENN — The crystal ball foretells of many problems for Mark LaPointe and Thurston, the Rockets are much too tough. Pick — John Glenn by 21.

FARMINGTON HARRISON AT CHURCHILL — A TOUGH GAME IS ON HAND FOR THE TWO top teams in the Western Flie. Pick — Harrison by 6.

NORTH FARMINGTON AT LIVONIA FRANKLIN — The Patriots may encounter too much defense from NF. The Gypsy sees another close one. Pick — North Farmington by 6.

PLYMOUTH CATON AT STEVENSON — The Canton Chiefs are a vastly improved team, and Stevenson is not the power it once was. Pick — Canton by 7.

CHERRY HILL AT GARDEN CITY WEST — Good things are in store for Cherry Hill, although it will be a battle. Pick — Cherry Hill by 1.

FORDSON AT WAYNE — Floyd Carter's Zebras will put up a gallant fight, but the Tractors should plow through an inexperienced defense. Pick — Fordson by 14 or more.

ANN ARBOR HURON AT ROMULUS — Huron will pay no attention to the laws protecting Eagles. Pick — Huron by 12.

EDSEL FORD AT SALEM — Remember what Wisconsin did to Michigan? And Georgia Tech did to Alabama? The gypsy picks he upset of the week. Pick — Salem by 2.

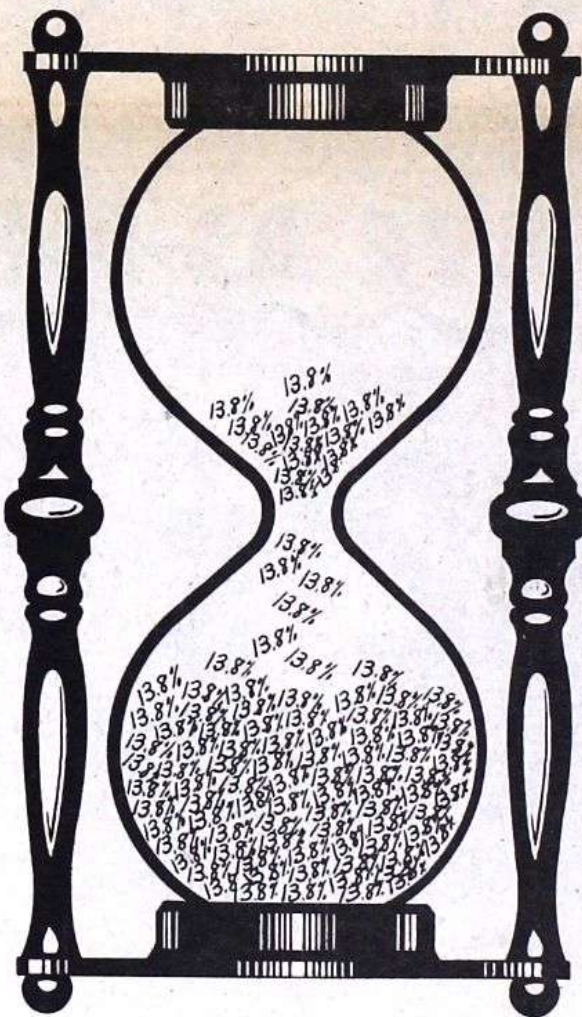

Ocelots drop opener

Schoolcraft College lost its opening cross country meet, 25-36, to Lansing Community College.

Franklin graduates Paul Coburn (26:35) and Jeff Bristow (27:24) placed first and second, but had little team help as the Ocelots' next best runner placed tenth.

In women's competition, Polly Ostrandeo of Stevenson High ran 21:58 and Trisha Mulka of Redford Union turned in 22:14. There was no team race for the Lady Ocelots.

Ex 'M' coach is guest speaker

Former University of Michigan baseball coach Moby Benedict was in Wayne last week to help the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department honor the Wayne Grapefruit Major and Minor leagues at the annual banquet.

Especially honored at the affair, held at the Community Center, were regular season major league champs the Tarpons and Expos, and Minor league regular season champs the Cardinals.

Also honored were playoff champions in the minor league the Reds, and in the majors the Expos.

League Director Don Halley presided over the awards ceremony and reported an attendance of 350 people.

PEDIATRIC NURSES

Enter the world of caring at University of Michigan Hospitals

Our C.S. Mott Children's Hospital is a modern, eight-story facility designed to handle pediatric cases of virtually every description. Individual units care for patients by age and medical need. Our patients range in age from newborn to 19 years. They may require ICU care, isolation, constant observation, short-term med/surg care, or even long-term rehabilitation. We care for patients with leukemia, diabetes, seizure disorders, chronic disabilities, and many other afflictions including injury from motor vehicles, and the need for corrective surgery.

You'll find primary nursing and/or team nursing in operation on most units. We place special emphasis on caring for patients AND their families physically, emotionally, and socially. We help patients and their families cope with grief and guilt, develop positive body images, administer self-care, and maintain wellness after discharge.

Our world of caring is a world of opportunity for the dedicated pediatric nurse. You will certainly see it all at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital. You may choose to develop highly specialized skills or broaden your pediatric background.

Enter our world of caring at the University of Michigan Hospitals. Contact our Nurse Employment Office now!
